BOY SCOUT PAGE A WEEKLY FEATURE OF TELEGRAPH

Beginning this evening a Boy Scout section will be a regular Friday evening feature of the HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH. It will contain news of Boy Scout activities. Later as interest grows specialized departments on nature studies, photography, and subjects relating to merit badges will be added.

Troop scribes are writing the stories.

Scout devices, mottoes and insignia with which the general public is not thoroughly acquainted will be shown and explained.

The Boy Scout movement in this city, since the recent campaign, has attained wonderful proportions. Troops are being organized in all parts of the city and hundreds of youths are being instructed in the works and purposes of this organization.

While Boy Scouts time and time again have demonstrated the practical worth of the training they receive, it is in war time that it proves of almost inestimable value. Just now Boy Scouts are being urged to farm garden plots—"Feed a Soldier" is one of their mottoes.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS VOTED WINNERS

Capture Debate From Boy Scouts; Troop Is Active

On Friday evening, June 29, the Scouts of Troop 6 and the Susquehanna Circle of Camp Fire Girls gave an entertainment and reception at the Olivet Presbyterian church.

This was the closing affair of what was known as Booster Week. A program of vocal and instrumental numbers was followed by a debate.

Resolved that the American woman should be given the right to vote. The Camp Fire Girls on the affirmative side displayed an earnestness and enthusiasm which could not be overcome by the logic and eloquence of Scouts Haehnel and Carson.

After the formal program a reception was held in the social hall of the church which was decorated with strings of pennants and Japanese lanterns. Camp stools, wigwags and piles of cushions gave a real camp touch and a typical camp luncheon was served to over a hundred visitors.

On Tuesday afternoon a number of Scouts under the command of Fred B. Hahnel, of Harrisburg, and Clark's Valley where they camped for the night. On Friday the squad hiked over the mountain to Stony Creek and back to Harrisburg.

The Scouts who made the trip were Nony Snavely, Fred Troop, Amos Nye, Thomas Leeds, William Leaman, John Randall, George W. Hahnel, Charles Davis, Charles Reigel, Ralph Undercoffer and Fred Haehnel.

Two new volunteers have taken up Scout work at the Olivet church during the past week. C. Demming, a former scoutmaster, of a troop of Italian Boy Scouts in Shanton, will act as assistant to Scoutmaster Hahnel.
