

'BLEACHED FLOUR' BILL IS VETOED

Governor Writes Some Tart Messages in Dealing With Much Discussed Measures

The "bleached flour" bill, which attracted much attention during its passage through the Legislature, fell beneath the Governor's veto ax as a "bill that menaces health and that increases the cost of a substantial food of all the people." The governor discusses the object of the bill and the process and its effect at length and says that the act would lower food standards of the state. He also says that it would force from business the small miller whose business would not warrant him in purchasing patented process and quotes Dr. H. W. Wiley in support of his action against the bill.

The governor also vetoed the House bill providing for notices of county taxes to be given in third class cities, declaring it "flagrantly unconstitutional" and that he can not understand how it passed the Legislature.

The House bill increasing the salary of the deputy quarantine physician at Philadelphia from two to three thousand dollars was vetoed because the Legislature has not provided "funds adequate to the expenditures authorized."

The Senate bill increasing fee of jurors summoned on writs of inhibition, drunkards, lunatics, etc., from $1.50 to $5 per day in Allegheny county is disapproved because the governor says that he sees no reason for singling out one county.

The House bill for the Bertillon system in jails and penitentiaries was vetoed because the governor says there is no necessity for the bill and that authorities should be free to use whatever system best serves the end to be attained.

Others bills vetoed were:

Senate bill to allow John F. Stone, Coudersport, to sue the state for loss due to a shipment of cattle during the foot and mouth disease outbreak. The governor says "there is no reason why the commonwealth should be put to the expense of defending action as this bill contemplates." He says that there was an open violation of quarantine laws.

House bill increasing pay of auditors in first class townships from two to five dollars a day on the ground that there is no necessity for the increase.

House bill providing for reincorporation as stock companies of beneficial and protective associations, the governor saying it is an effort to re-enact a law repealed in 1911 and that it would be inviting trouble to revive it.

House bill permitting building and loan associations to invest certain surplus funds in war bonds, which the governor says is cared for in a bill just approved.

American Is Killed in France in Rescue Work

New York, July 6.—William Neale Goddard, formerly with the sales force of the American Steel and Wire Company, was instantly killed on the night of June 12 by a shell explosion when rescuing wounded "somewhere in France."

Mr. Goddard went to England at the beginning of the war. He enlisted as a private and rapidly rose to captaincy of the Twenty-first Battalion, Lancashire Fusiliers. His wife, formerly Miss Charlotte E. Harvey, of East Orange, who has been a Red Cross nurse in England since the beginning of the war, intends to continue her service until the end of the war, when she will return to America.

Payment of Election Officers on Basis of Votes Cast Is Approved

Approval of the Bidelapacher bill providing for payment of election officers on a basis of votes cast was announced by Governor Brumbaugh. The bill fixes the pay of election officers all over the State at $5 per day and provides that the dollar additional shall be paid for each 100 ballots or fraction thereof polled after the first 250. Originally the bill applied only to third-class cities and boroughs, but was amended to include all election officers.

Pittsburgh's transit bills were today announced as approved by Governor Brumbaugh. The measures were presented by Mr. Stadlander, Allegheny, and provide that second class cities may construct and operate transit systems under a general State law and also give authority to take land and construct subways, tunnels and other works necessary for establishing a street railway system.

The Governor also announced approval of the Franklin bill which empowers a street railway, with consent of local authorities, to relocate track for five thousand feet to avoid a grade crossing or otherwise make better or safer facilities. There is a provision that it may not take a line of another company.

Swede Sits Up When Undertaker Arrives

Pottstown, Pa., July 6.—Olaf Jensen, a Swede, employed at a Birdsboro industry, proved that he was not dead after an undertaker had come to take his body to a morgue yesterday. He had fallen into Monocacy creek, and it was some time before his unconscious body was taken from the water.

It was thought he was dead, and a telephone call was made to the undertaker. Just as the wagon arrived the "corpse" sat up, resuscitation having been brought about by vigorous first-aid measures employed by the Swede's friends.

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS GO TO SCHOOL IN IOWA

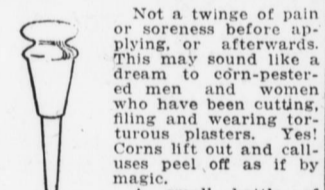

In several cities in Iowa painters and decorators are going to school. The Popular Mechanics Magazine tells of this educational innovation of Iowa State College, at Ames, Iowa, which in the effort to give practical aid to men of the painting trade, now employ experts who offer two courses in this line of work. One is conducted at the college and lasts four weeks. The other is a two weeks' course and is given in several cities during the slack season, so that men can take advantage of it with a minimum of inconvenience. The size of the classes is limited for the sake of efficiency, and while half of the men spend the morning doing wall work, the other half do graining, for example, and in the afternoon the two groups change about.

WANT BETTER IDENTIFICATION

Among the House bills approved by Governor Brumbaugh was the Drake bill providing that when assessments are made in counties having between twenty and fifty thousand population the assessments are to give names and area of each parcel of realty together with the names of owners of four adjoining properties, if there be so many. The idea is to secure better identification of land. The act will affect Adams, Bedford, Cameron, Centre, Clarion, Clinton, Columbia, Elk, Forest, Fulton, Greene, Huntingdon, Juniata, McKean, Mifflin, Monroe, Montour, Perry, Pike, Potter, Snyder, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, Union, Warren, Wayne and Wyoming.

Tell Your Wife Corns Lift Off

Doesn't hurt a bit to lift corns or calluses off with fingers.

Not a twinge of pain or soreness before applying, or afterwards. This may sound like a dream to corn-pestered men and women who have been cutting, filing and wearing torturous plasters. Yes! Corns lift off and calluses peel off as if by magic.

A small bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops directly upon your tender, corn or callus, and instantly the soreness disappears. Then shortly the corn or callus will be so loose that it lifts off.

Freezone dries instantly. It doesn't eat out the corn or callus, but just shrivels it up so it lifts away without even irritating the surrounding skin. Women should keep a tiny bottle handy on the dresser and never let a corn or callus ache twice.
