sweet peas and sweetheart roses as a centerplece. The favors were tiny baskets of nuts to which were attached painted place cards.

As the last course was served, Miss Berry found a card under her plate telling in rhyme that the party would not be over until she made a search for special gifts for her own new home. As each one was found, another rhyme told where to look for something else, and the chase went merrily on until many beautiful pieces of linen and cut glass were added to the "hope chest."

Those present were: Mrs. Charles J. Stevens, Miss Frances Edna Cochrane, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. J. Ross Hall, Miss Anna Bacon, Miss Margaret Ramsay Boas, Mrs. Thomas E. Bowman, Miss Hazel Johnson, Miss Margary Campbell, Miss Berry and Mrs. Crowell.

YOUNG TROOPER IS JUST OF AGE

Miss Crabbe, Miss Strouse and Frederick Ott Lyter Receives Birthday Cake From Associates at the Telegraph

FREDERICK OTT LYTER

ed that it was the 21st birthday of Frederick Ott Lyter, for several years connected with the paper, more recently with the advertising

In the afternoon, Boyd M. Ogelsby, advortising manager, with James P. McCullough, superintendent of The Telegraph Printing Company; Captain Charles P. Meck, State editor, for twenty-seven years a member of the troop and twenty years an officer, and several young women of the force, went by automobile to the armory at State and West streets, the headquarters of Troop C of the First Pennsylvania National Guards, known locally as the Governor's Troop, to find Trooper Lyter. Withmuch fun and speechmaking a birthday cake, adorned with pink candles, was presented, with cards of greeting and good wishes from some of his business associates.

Trooper Lyter, who soon leaves for a southern camp, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lyter, 1006 North Second street. He is a cousting and messake of Colonel Frederick M. Ott, and nineteen years ago his brother, W. Edward Lyter, went to porto Rico with Captain Ott, then commanding the Governor's Troop. He is a graduate of Central High school, student of the Whatron bour Society which now has six members in some branch of the service.

GOES TO MOUNT GRETNA Mrs. Eugene Moyer, of the Cox apartments, left yesterday morning for Mount Gretna where she will stay at the Hotel Conewago, to be near her husband, First Lieutenant Moyer, of Motor Truck Company No. 2, of the ammunition train.
