Fear to Make Martyrs of Radical Socialists

Petrograd, Tuesday, July 17 (delayed)—By an agreement between the Soldiers' and Workmen's Deputies and the remaining members of the cabinet, the question of replacing the retiring ministers, as well as all questions of policy, have been held in abeyance pending the suppression of the Bolsheviki element which for thirty-six hours has kept the city in a turmoil. Events since noon to-day serve somewhat to clear up the anomalous situation growing out of the apparent reluctance of the Government to mobilize its forces to quell the turbulent minority and radical elements.

The Government evidently considered it unwise for the safety of the city to oppose them with violent methods until it is absolutely necessary. There is little doubt that the Government has enough loyal support to suppress an uprising. There were already signs to-night that pressure will be exerted through the Przemsky regiment, which is known to be faithful to the government, made its appearance on the street and although no clash occurred, it stood in apparent readiness to fight if necessary. As it rode grimly about the streets there was no doubt in the minds of the people of the city in the event that the antigovernment demonstration took a more serious turn. The regiment was cheered by the crowds as it passed. It met several groups of marching Bolsheviki but in no case were the soldiers molested by them. The regiment showed no disposition to interfere with the Bolsheviki as long as their activities were no more aggressive. A heavy rainstorm at dusk effectually prevented a collision which might otherwise have occurred.

Crown Prince's Army Suffers Shock in Effort to Hold Line at Verdun

By Associated Press
French Front in France, July 18.—The crown prince's army suffered the rudest shock when the French yesterday attacked and recaptured all the positions in the west of Verdun. These cost the Germans much hard fighting when they took them from the French.

The affair cost the Germans not only the loss of their former conquest and about five hundred prisoners, but the French cut into their line and repeated counterattacks by the Germans failed to recover any part thereof and resulted in more losses. The Germans when they advanced at the end of June obtained possession of a number of observatories giving them splendid views of the French line. The Germans have been for several days expecting the French would try to shell them out, but did not expect an infantry attack.

The French were obliged to delay the movement owing to bad weather but continued the heavy bombardment, causing the Germans such losses that they were obliged to take the Tenth reserve division, which was holding their position, out of the trench as some of its companies have been reduced to fifty men each. The Twenty-Ninth division replaced it, supported by the Forty-Eighth division composed of fresh troops brought from the Russian front.

It was while relief was proceeding that the French attacked, thoroughly surprising the enemy by appearing in their trenches while the bombardment was proceeding. The French battalions were greatly animated. Before the Germans could recover the French were within the third line German trenches. The enemy's disorder was so great the French were able to gather many prisoners and dashed even farther forward than they intended and occupied ground on a three-hundred yard front of what had been French positions before the German attack in June.

The French now hold all the obstacles overlooking the slopes of Le Mort Homme and Hill 304. The whole engagement lasted only thirty minutes. The first German reaction occurred unsuccessfully twelve hours later.

Artillery Battle Fought in Streets of Petrograd

By Associated Press
Petrograd, July 19.—Owing to reports of an intended attack on the Faure Palace for the purpose of arresting M. Skobelev, minister of labor; M. Tseretelli, minister of posts and telegraphs, and M. Tcheretoff, minister of agriculture, the military authorities sent two light guns to the front, which men enroute with a machine gun regiment. Shots were exchanged and some horses were killed. A party of infantry stationed at the Champ de Mars, scene of the military reviews, fired on the Cosaks from Pavlovsk.

The task was to compromise the provisional government in the eyes of the people by every possible means. Funds were sent through the intermediary of an employe of the German legation at Stockholm. The alleged chief German agent in Russia is Maxeta Koslovsky, to whose account it is stated two million rubles are now standing.

Radical Socialist Is Found to Be an Employe of Kaiser's General Staff

By Associated Press
Petrograd, July 19.—A letter from George Brusiloff's chief of staff states that Nikolai Linin, the Radical Socialist leader, is an agent of the German general staff. The evidence was traced through the confession of Lieut. Ermolenko, that he was sent to the front of the Russian army to make a propaganda in favor of early peace with Germany.

Part of the task was to compromise the provisional government in the eyes of the people by every possible means. Funds were sent through the intermediary of an employe of the German legation at Stockholm. The alleged chief German agent in Russia is Maxeta Koslovsky, to whose account it is stated two million rubles are now standing.

Villa Again Takes Possession of Jimenez

By Associated Press
Juarez, Mexico, July 19.—Leading his men, Francisco Villa Tuesday took possession of Jimenez, an important junction point on the Mexican Central Railroad, 131 miles south of Chihuahua City. Passengers who reached here from the south report the capture of the government garrison and the looting of the town. The capture of Jimenez cuts off both Torreon and Parral from communication with Chihuahua.

OUTDOOR SERVICES
Newport, Pa., July 19.—Union outdoor preaching services will be held every Sunday during the remainder of this month, commencing Sunday, and for all of August. These services have been held during the past two summers and have always proven attractive. They will be held on Marshall Field, the local Dauphin-Perry League grounds.
