Lingelstown. The businessmen's committee did the rest. Two big tents, one for sleeping quarters and the other for dining purposes, have been raised at the foot of a partly wooded hill, known throughout the district as Bunker Hill.

Incidentally they are aiding in growing sufficient garden truck to furnish an important portion of their food supply. Beans, peas, lettuce and radishes have already been used since the camp opened and a regular supply of that staple article of diet.

The Rev. E. P. Robinson, of Dauphin, well known as a social worker of the community, is in charge of the camp. His assistants include Harry Peiffer, Technical High school student, Herman Holtschoppe and Harry Klugh, members of a Boy Scout troop.

The boys rise at 6:30 a. m.; attend sick call, eat breakfast, clean up the camp and air their bedding, then take a two-hour turn at weeding and planting the garden. Swimming, hikes and Scout work follow, and then comes the noon-day meal. A brief rest period with story-telling or songs, follows.

OFFICER ARRESTS ENOS D. MYERS Warrant Charging Theft of $60,000 Served on Ex-Cashier of Lemasters Bank

Chambersburg, Pa., July 24.—Enos D. Myers, former cashier of the Lemasters National Bank, was arrested in the office of his counsel, Walter K. Sharpe, here yesterday afternoon by Harvey Smith, Deputy United States Marshal, of Harrisburg, on a warrant containing two charges, one alleging violation of Section 5209 of the revised statutes of the United States, which provides against the willful and felonious use of moneys, funds and credits of a bank, applying this to the Lemasters bank as of or about September 16, 1916, and the other alleging false entries in the books of the bank for or by Myers.

THE STORY OF THE wrecking of the bank at Lemasters and the loss of more than $60,000, is fresh in public memory. For years the bank was in the hands of the Comptroller of the Currency, and later reorganized. Most of the money lost is said to have gone into the Federal Reserve Bank at Harrisburg, a railroad project, through advances made to the contractor, Clyde Kuhn, on notes he gave to Myers.

MAJOR GENERAL Leonard Wood, now in command of the Southeastern Department, with headquarters at Charleston, S. C., and Major General J. Franklin Bell, commanding the Eastern Department at New York, are the only two officers in the army who outrank General Barry. General Wood was Taft's chief of staff.

A CHAMPION AND HER BABIES In the American Magazine, a writer tells about Mrs. Thompson, a winner of many tennis championships, and her children. He says: "Mrs. Bundy has been playing tennis almost all her life and was able to hold a racket. In 1901, when she was only twelve, she started the tennis world by winning the Pacific Coast singles and, with her partner, the mixed doubles. Victory upon victory came to her, but she did not visit the east until 1904, when she captured the national championship and did not lose a set while east of the Mississippi. And she played in many tournaments during her visit. But in 1905 Mrs. Bundy achieved her greatest triumph. She crossed the ocean and won the world's championship at Wimbledon, England, defeating Miss Kate Douglass, who had held the title for two previous years. The following year she lost to Miss Douglass, but in 1907 she regained the world's championship by defeating her opponent in a bitterly contested match.

Staff (Continued) The tip has gone forth from high offices that General Barry will succeed to the highest post in the military service when General Scott reaches the age of retirement in September.
