Summerdale, Pa., July 27.—After being without street lights for the last several months, citizens of Summerdale will again enjoy this privilege. The lights, sixteen in number, were again turned on last night. Through the efforts of a number of townspeople, a sufficient amount of money has been collected and subscribed to pay for the lights in the future. The sum asked of the town is $8 a month, as the remainder is paid by H. M. Horner, owner of the park. Early in the spring several persons refused to contribute to the fund and the lights were turned on. Now, since the lights are turned on, efforts will be made to raise additional funds for more lights for use on several other streets.

Personal Glimpses

What everyone of us needs is wider outlook. We are all too prone to gaze out upon life from our own private back window and to imagine that the view we thus obtain is a comprehensive survey of the globe. We need to forget ourselves for a while and to go out into the pure clear air of world-thought and learn what a different universe this is when beheld with a seeing eye. THE LITERARY DIGEST, greatest of news magazines, puts you in touch week by week with every important event that is taking place within the compass of the Seven Seas. It reports these occurrences to you in the words of the periodicals published on the spot, voicing no views of its own, being content to record for you without comment what the world is doing and thinking, leaving you to form your own judgments.
