KIDNAPED BOY AT MYERSDALE

Man Named McManigan Arrested in Maryland For Taking Earl Imhoff

Hagerstown, Md., August 1.—Constable Charles Barnhart arrested yesterday at Hancock a man named McManigan, who is charged with having kidnaped 13-year-old Earl Imhoff from his home at Myersdale, Pa., some time ago. The boy surprised his parents and friends by suddenly returning to his home a few days ago. His parents had not heard from him since he was spirited away months ago and they had given him to the Myersdale officers and taken to that place. McManigan the Imhoff had stated makes a business of kidnaping boys between 10 and 12 years and forcing them to work for him.

Young Man Drowned in Susquehanna at Marietta

Marietta, Pa., July 31.—Yesterday afternoon Earl Easley, aged nineteen years, of Hanover, was seized with cramps while in bathing in the Susquehanna river and was drowned unknown to the party he was with. When supper time came and the young man did not put in an appearance a search began. One of the party came to Marietta and secured George Bowers and Harry Dugans who, with grappling irons, began to drag the river. They had been at their work but a short time when Easley's body was found. Coroner Walter W. Fryberger deemed an inquest unnecessary as the young man died from cramps.

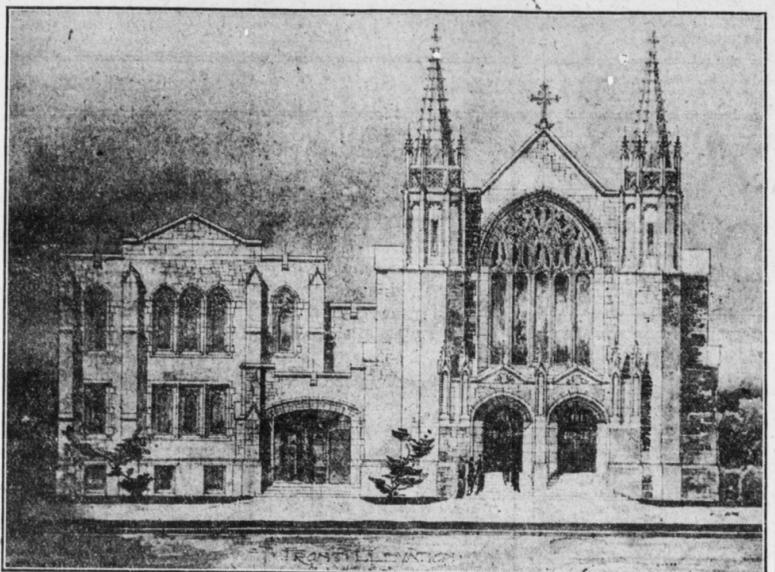

The young man, with four others, John Palmring, and Edgar Geiselman, came to Marietta on Monday morning and rented the Hillsdale cottage from William H. Fendrich.

BULL GOES MAD WITH HEAT
Hagerstown, Md., August 1.—July closed with the hottest weather in this section in six years. Thermometers ranged from 100 to 105 degrees yesterday afternoon. There were several prostrations and scores of workmen on buildings and farmhands were forced to stop work. A large red bull, owned by Frank Schindler, went mad from the heat on his farm and after chasing a negro up a tree, fell dead after racing around a cornfield.

BRETHREN CHURCH MEETING
Pen Mar, Md., August 1.—The reunion of the Church of the Brethren at Pen Mar on Friday, August 3, is expected that crowds will be present from Waynesboro, Hagerstown, Linwood and St. James, Md. A good program will be rendered with Dr. V. M. Reichard presiding.

PROPOSED NEW EDIFICE FOR FIRST REFORMED CONGREGATION AT CARLISLE

Carlisle, Pa., Aug. 1.—The proposed new edifice of the First Reformed congregation, plans for which have been formulated, will have the greatest variety of surrounding of any church in the Cumberland Valley, and possibly in the state.

The church will cost approximately $75,000 and plans have been completed and accepted for the building as pictured above. A plot of ground in North Pitt street, a half block from the Cumberland Valley passenger station, has been purchased. On the south side of the new church will be an alley and across the alley is a storage warehouse for a wholesale liquor store, and adjoining it is a hotel. On the west are a number of alley houses, while on the east is a theater, a historical library, a wholesale liquor store, bottle works and a negro school. The finest property is on the north, which is the Federal building, with beautiful and spacious grounds.

State College to Install Special Wartime Classes

State College, Pa., Aug. 1.—Classes in ordnance stores, mechanics of aeroplanes, signal service and field hospital work will be added to the curriculum of the Pennsylvania State College this fall to meet the demands of education in wartime. Military drill for men in all departments will be continued under army officers, just as has been practiced for the last fifty years.

With every prospect of a full freshman enrollment the college has adopted the slogan, "Business as Usual," and has named the motto on the gateway of the main entrance to the campus. President Sparks has said that through this method he seeks to strengthen public sentiment throughout the State with regard to the war. The plan to push educational forces vigorously at the State College at this time is in line with the resolutions adopted by the conference of prominent schoolmen held here recently.

Official notification of the date of opening, September 12, is being mailed to all undergraduates, although many of them being in various kinds of military service, will be unable to respond. In addition to the regular session, a special session will begin August 23 for those who left early to engage in patriotic service.

Recent Deaths in Central Pennsylvania

Marietta, Pa., Aug. 1.—John J. Wunsch, aged 74, a well-known cigar manufacturer, died Monday night. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having served four years, and was wounded in battle. He was a member of several secret organizations, and is survived by his wife and a son.

John Evans, aged 55 years, of Mountville, died Monday night in the Columbia Hospital.

WIDOW—Mrs. Mary Ann Best, aged 85 years, one of the oldest women in Northumberland, died of paralysis after several days' illness. She was a lifelong resident.

Dr. Frederick T. Harjle, aged 41 years, one of Shamokin's best-known doctors, died suddenly of heart trouble. He was a member of Company H, Eighth Pennsylvania infantry, during the Spanish-American War.

BISHOP-SULANKE WEDDING
Waynesboro, Pa., August 1.—Claire Bishop, of Williamsport, Md., and Miss Emma Sulanke, Waynesboro, were married at the Lutheran parsonage on Monday evening by the Rev. J. M. Francis. Stoverdale Campmeeting Opens With Special Session

Stoverdale, Pa., Aug. 1.—Stoverdale camp opened last evening with a "Get Together" service in charge of the Rev. Joseph E. Wierich, the spiritual director. An inspiring song service was conducted by the musical director, Professor J. J. Gibson, of Lancaster. All the departmental leaders were present and took part in the service. Miss Elizabeth Hullinger, of Philadelphia, the successful singing evangelist, was present and spoke briefly. The Rev. B. L. C. Baer, of Mechanicsburg, will have charge of the Young People's meeting. Mr. Baer spoke about his work and welcomed the young people to the service. The Rev. John C. Bieri, of Mahanoy City, who directed the Landisville camp for the past two years, also took part in the meeting. Mr. Bieri will conduct the Bible hour and the children's meetings.

While the day was warm the campers were glad that they were under the beautiful shade trees of the grove and had the privilege of cooling off in the sparkling waters of the Swatara. Indications point to a successful camp. There will be a full day to-day with addresses by the Rev. S. E. Brehm of Hummelstown, and William Beech, of Royaltown. A special musical feature will be the solos by the juvenile singers—the Brown brothers of Lancaster.

LATE NEWS FROM THE CUMBERLAND VALLEY

Hot Weather Brings Out Snakes in Large Numbers

Waynesboro, Pa., Aug. 1.—Not only has the extreme hot weather of the past several days had the effect of making it very uncomfortable for all human beings, but it has also had the effect of making snakes emerge from their hiding places among the rocks in the mountains and crawl among the bushes.

While David and Samuel Cutschall, Blairs Valley, were picking huckleberries on the Heartston Mountains, they ran into a den of snakes that were full of fight, but were over-matched and were killed and captured by the men. The lot consisted of copperheads and rattlesnakes. In the lot were seven large copperheads from two to three feet in length; three rattlesnakes from three to five feet, and about thirty small rattlesnakes from six to ten inches long.

There were in all forty-five snakes, and all were killed with the exception of the large rattlesnakes, which the men succeeded in capturing alive.

Another New Church Will Soon Be Built at Carlisle

Carlisle, Pa., Aug. 1.—A new church edifice will soon be added to the number of magnificent structures which are making Carlisle widely known. At a congregational meeting the members of the congregation of the Grace United Brethren Church decided that they will discontinue their present property, secure a new location and erect there on a new church at the cost of approximately $100,000. The site will be that of the former Dickinson School of Law which will be abandoned this fall with the completion of the new building. The selection makes the corner at West and Pom-pom streets again a church property after the lapse of a quarter of a century. The Methodist Church was originally located there.

Those present at the meeting also voted unanimously to have the pastor, the Rev. F. Berry Plummer, returned to Carlisle by the conference.

WILLIAM P. LENTZ DIES
