Colonel Demming Speaks

Colonel H. C. Demming delivered an address to the soldiers in which the United States had participated and deven before the Revolutionary that the United States had participated and even before the Revolutionary day and even before the Revolutionary that the United States had participated and even before the Revolutionary day war Harrisburg always furnished more than the allotted quota of soldiers, and the city is keeping up the good work in the present conflict. In the Civil War, Captain E. C. Williams, of Harrisburg was the first the service of the Union. He was afterward promoted to brigadier general. Following the anddress by Colonel Demming the band played the "Star-Spangled Banner." Immediately after the strains of the national air had ceased the company marched into the station and boarded in the train for the training camp. The address of Colonel Demming marched into the station and boarded in the train for the training camp. The address of Colonel Demming in part follows:

"Tieutenant Souders and other members of Motor Truck Company is No. 6: This is another epoch in your stoldier life, leaving home, and relatives and friends, to a camp from which the next movement will be to the battle front in a foreign land. "Your first thrill was when you were enrolled, physically examined, mustered into service and put on the American soldier's uniform; for as soon as the khaki dress appeared you immediately became a target for the foe.

"You will undoubtedly do your duty; that is a characteristic feature of Harrisburg soldiers. We believe that you will do more than your duty; that is a characteristic feature of Harrisburg soldiers. We believe that you will do more than your the foe.
