THE REV. DR. W. N. YATES

Stoverdale, Pa., Aug. 4.—Yesterday was one of the most pleasant days that the campers have enjoyed since the camp opened last Tuesday. From the sunrise service to the evangelistic service at the close of the day all meetings were marked by spiritual enthusiasm. The preachers of the day were the Revs. Joseph Daugherty, pastor of the Sixth Street United Brethren Church, Harrisburg, and Isaac H. Albright, of Middletown. Both ministers delivered able messages that received many favorable comments.

Mr. Bierli's Bible reading covered the hindrances to prayer. Jesus, keys and balls were used to illustrate the temperance theme at the children's meeting.

The Brown boys greatly pleased the children by the song, "Mollie and the Baby."

The Sunday morning sermon will be delivered by the Rev. John G. Bierli, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, of Mahanoy City. He will preach on "Paul's Prayer."

Afternoon services will be held at 3 o'clock at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, of Mahanoy City. The mixed choir of Baltimore, Md., will sing at the church service at 10:30. EXEMPTIONS TO BE HARD TO GAIN

At Best They Will Only Be Temporary, According to the Latest Rulings

Out of the mass of letters and telegrams and the numerous telephone queries which have come to the State Draft Headquarters there is growing up a well defined idea of just what exemption means and how many people who concluded that once exempted they would be free to have had a rude awakening because of the study local boards have given to the general rules and regulations. An exemption, say the officials here, is but a temporary thing. A minister, for instance, who exempted only so long as he remains connected with the denomination whose tenets forbid engaging in war. A layman in such denomination must get a statement as to his church standing from his pastor.

A still tighter proposition is that regarding exemption of men who would avoid military service because of agriculture or manufacturing or some industry. They have to swear and substantiate, if called upon, that their continuance in the industry is "necessary to the maintenance thereof" and that he cannot be replaced "without a direct, substantial, material loss and detriment to the adequate and effective operation, certificates of discharge in such cases being issued by the board with a clause fixing a time limit for them to run or announcing that the man can be called at any time.

The provost marshal general's staff must have worked a long time on the forms and affidavits demanded because they cover every contingency in daily life, even to applications for a man's discharge from draft when made by himself because of his family and where made by a wife. There are forms for every conceivable condition. One book contains nothing but forms of affidavits and it is 175 pages from one end to another.
