

START WORK ON BIG WAREHOUSES FOR TROOP CAMP

Ten to Be Built to Store Supplies For Pennsylvania Soldiers

August, Aug. 9.—Work has been started on the ten big wooden warehouses by the side of the Georgia Railroad spur tracks near Camp Hancock.

These warehouses will be one story high, sixty feet wide and 150 feet long.

The contract for the electrical wiring, lights, etc., at Camp Hancock has been let to the Whitney-McNeill Electric Company and all of the other electrical contractors in the city are associated with this firm.

Major Strickler is very well pleased with the progress of the work in the millinery section.

There is no truth in the report that some of the Pennsylvania Guardsmen will be here during the next day or two.

The men who have arrived and are working with Mr. Tomlinson are:

George B. Landis, educational work secretary for the state Y. M. C. A. of Pennsylvania.

POULTRYMEN AT ELIZABETHTOWN

Hear Instructive Addresses at Masonic Homes Meeting

At the suggestion and through the efforts of B. Monroe Posten, poultryman of the egg farm of the Masonic Home, and S. H. Imboden, head farmer of the homes, a poultrymen's picnic was held in the picnic grove of the Masonic Homes grounds, near the poultry plants, on Thursday, August 2.

Many of the serious business problems which confront the poultrymen in these times of high cost of everything, pertaining to the business with their demoralizing effect upon the business was an impelling cause for this gathering in order that a free discussion might be had by those most interested, of the best solving the problem.

Many of the best poultrymen of Pennsylvania were present. Among the number being Robert Eastwick, of Brackenridge, near Marysville; Lewis Sprecher, of Kohorstown; Lutz Brothers, of Middletown; Prof. T. McGrew, head of the poultry department of the Pennsylvania Agricultural School; Professor H. C. Knaedel, of State College; Professor W. Theodore Wittman, of Mont Gretna; Dr. E. W. Gardner, of Mount Hope; DeLaney, of York, editor of the Poultry Press, and Guillot Brothers, of Bushkill. Others were present from the poultry farms at Harrisburg, Maytown and Elizabethtown.

The addresses were all interesting and of an unusual character. In addition to the needs of the day, it was pointed out that the increase in the cost of labor and everything connected with the business, having advanced in cost 10 per cent, there was no profit in the business, every one engaged in it, desiring to give up the business at 50 per cent. of what it used to be.

It was recommended to adopt the motto the three C's: cash, conservation, and continuation, and to employ them in both buying and selling.

While the addresses were delivered in the grove, a free for all discussion took place at the houses of the farm, where Prof. Knaedel described the methods and results corresponding with the records kept of the same.

The picnic was greatly enjoyed by all who were present, and appreciated by all for its promise of future benefit.

The poultry plant of the Masonic Homes has grown to considerable proportions. It is ideally situated on the southern exposure of a wooded hillside and is equipped with all the modern appliances for the purpose of raising colony houses, a number of brooder houses, each with its heating appliances, and an incubator of 3,000 eggs capacity.

EDITH WATKINS TELLS WHY HE QUIT THE SOCIALISTS

Antiwar Attitude of Party a Menace, Says Chester M. Wright

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—Chester M. Wright, former managing editor of The New York Call, to-day declared that the antiwar attitude of the Socialist party was brought about by the attitude of the party toward the war and toward the trade union movement.

"Since America entered the war I have not considered myself a party Socialist, and it now is some time since my actual resignation was tendered," he said. "But long before the war I was in conflict with the party majority on the question of the party's attitude toward the organized labor movement, and it was after failure to secure modification of the position on that question that I resigned as managing editor of The New York Call."

"To-day, of course, the war is the paramount issue. I cannot remain with any movement that is not loyal to the cause of America in this crisis. Because of that the Socialist party means to me to-day an organization which stands exactly in opposition to everything in which I believe."

"I believe the Socialist party now is the greatest hindrance to the progress toward democracy and socialism that we have in America. In every essential influence it is anti-social."

Party Has Failed Socialists have prided themselves on their ability to analyze world movements and to understand social forces. But in the supreme test, they have failed, abjectly and completely, so far as the party is concerned.

I believe Socialists will agree it has been the Socialist contention that about the best we could do was to assist evolution. We could not do better than to sit back and let people's eyes to it. We could make the way easier by lessening the opposition.

They say all the social forces in the world are unchained in the greatest evolutionary drive the world has ever known and the American Socialist party makes bold to hinder that weight against evolution, as an unsophisticated young bull might hurl himself at a locomotive.

"As I see it, this war is compressing into a massive but monetary convulsion that which might be the natural evolution of 100 years. It is driving the world in a chaotic rush toward the very things for which Socialists have clamored. I cannot understand why the true Socialist wishes to make the thing worse by opposing it."

NORTHERN LIGHTS GRIP ALL WIRES

Great Display Makes Communication Almost Impossible For Hours

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The Aurora Borealis, or Northern Lights, interrupted wire communication over the northern half of the United States and all of Canada from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic Ocean, and even was felt in southern latitudes last night and for several hours early to-day.

The display of the Aurora in Colorado was described as particularly brilliant, many persons believing the blood-red appearance of the northern sky was caused by forest fires. A dispatch from Denver quoted Prof. H. A. Howe, of the Department of Astronomy of Denver University, as saying that such a display had never been observed before in Colorado, to his knowledge.

The disturbance began soon after 11 o'clock, affecting wires between New York and Atlanta.

The most serious disturbance was from 11 a. m. to 1.45, when the wires from New York to Chicago were cleared for a few minutes but soon afterward the waves again gripped them and continued half an hour, when the wires began to clear. Officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company said that fully 90 per cent of the wire facilities of the country east of Chicago had been temporarily put out of commission.

Paris, Aug. 9.—The French offices announce that the Germans have invented a new ruse to nullify their opponents into the belief that artillery batteries are still in position for action, when actually they have been withdrawn, and by it to prevent untimely advances.

The device consists of a mechanism fitted with half a dozen globular capsuled with an explosive which is placed on the site of the battery to be exploded every thirty to forty seconds, with a sound exactly like that of a field gun heard from a distance. They are said to lead a stenographer to think that he is still facing artillery.

Friend of German Cause By I see it, this war is compressing into a massive but monetary convulsion that which might be the natural evolution of 100 years. It is driving the world in a chaotic rush toward the very things for which Socialists have clamored.

"Let me make this clear: I am heart and soul with the cause of labor and democracy, a cause so bound up in the fortune of the Socialist party that to desert the cause of America would be to desert everything that the normal heart holds dear and that the normal mind clings to."

WILSON TO GIVE OUTLINE OF WAR PURPOSES SOON

President Determined Fighting Blood of the Nation Shall Be Aroused

Washington, Aug. 9.—President Wilson will seek an opportunity shortly to address the American people on present conditions of the war with Germany. Mr. Wilson is keenly alive to the fact that slight apathy in this country over the war has not yet been turned into enthusiasm.

Senators and other Democratic leaders who have contended with the President recently have urged him to make some statement to the people which will satisfy the parents of the young men who have been drafted for the war and who are not yet satisfied with the reasons why this country is in the conflict.

President Wilson does not favor peace at this moment. He may prefer that an agitation in the Senate for peace cannot be ignored by the Administration at a time when thousands of homes are being saddened by the selection of sons and brothers for the draft camps.

Mr. Wilson as to the manner in which he will address the American people. It may be that he will decide to appear before Congress in joint session in the House of Representatives. He may prefer to write a letter to Chairman Stone, of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, as that committee will have charge of any peace resolutions that may be introduced.

Meanwhile the President is gathering information on which to base his address. Wholly independent of the agencies at the disposal of the State Department, Mr. Wilson is at this moment receiving from trusted agents in England and France reports on conditions in those countries, reports which deal rather with the economic situation and the temper of the people than with military conditions. The President is convinced that all the peoples of Europe—the Entente or of the Central Powers—are eager for peace. But he is determined that there can only be peace under the conditions which this country laid down when it entered the war.

It is Mr. Wilson's hope that at the critical moment he may come forward with the suggestion that will put an end to the slaughter in Europe even before the young manhood of the United States has paid its toll. But the President will not take the step toward peace until he is convinced that the peace that may come from his suggestion will be a peace with honor to this country and with safety to the democracy of the world.

To the suggestions that have come to the President from some quarters that the resistance to the draft in various portions of the country indicates a resentment against the war, Mr. Wilson remains indifferent. This country is at war, and Congress has decreed that its armies shall be created by selective draft. Sporadic outbreaks will be met with an iron hand and the army will be raised.

RUSS CABINET IS SATISFACTORY

Premier Kerensky Said to Have Great Task to Organize Industry

London, Aug. 9.—Special dispatches from Petrograd reviewing the construction of the new ministry agreed that, although it is not ideal, it probably is as strong as circumstances permit and on the whole satisfactory. All refer to the immensity of the task confronting it, the first necessity being the restoration of order and discipline in the army, the present condition of which warrants the greatest anxiety. Internal disorganization is hardly less serious.

One correspondent refers to factories being brought one by one to a partial standstill owing to the lack of fuel, which is due to a lack of transportation, while the lengthening lines waiting at ship docks murmur apprehensively of the coming winter.

The decision of M. Tseretling to remain outside the ministry as a connecting link between the government and workmen's and soldiers' council, is mainly approved and his appeal to the latter to abandon the domestic class-war and range themselves about the government to save the country is warmly commended.

It is believed he will have great influence in inducing the workmen's and soldiers' council to strengthen Premier Kerensky, whose maintenance is regarded as of paramount importance. If Kerensky falls, one correspondent says, Russian democracy will receive a blow from which it will hardly recover.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 9.—More the War Department have versed itself in the selection of training place for the second officer reserve camp, to which Philadelphia and men from southern Pennsylvania will be sent late this month to study for officers' commissions.

Word went out of Washington yesterday that instead of the Philadelphia contingent going to Fort Mifflin, N. Y., where the present camp is located, on August 25, the men selected to study for commissions would go to Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and the Regular Army encampment. Word also went out to the United States Army examining officers who are now making the selections for the next camp that the quota to be sent from this district will be increased by a full 30 per cent., making it necessary for the examiners to continue their work and filing the lists back another ten days until a week from next Monday.

From the district comprising Philadelphia and southern Pennsylvania, originally it was intended that 1,200 men should be sent to Fort Mifflin. This will add an even 300 to the number of those to study for commissions and bring the total to 1,500 men.
