

Marines Want to Retain Distinctive Green Uniform to Distinguish Service

American Training Camp in France, Aug. 10 (By The Associated Press).—The marines of the expeditionary force will make a fight to retain their forest green uniforms against a tentative order which would place them in regular khaki.

Slackers Would Impeach President Wilson to Stop War Without Victory

Washington, Aug. 10.—Impeachment for President Wilson was urged and the selective conscription law, its proponents and the national legislatures who enacted it, were denounced and excoriated in the Capitol yesterday at a meeting of pacifists held in the auditorium of the committee on military affairs of the Senate.

Regular Army Quota Filled by Enlistments

Washington, Aug. 10.—Yesterday's enlistments are expected to recruit the Regular Army to the full war strength. Acceptances Wednesday reported yesterday totaled 1,184, leaving only 593 to complete the recruitment.

ARMY ORDERS TO DRAFT MEN SOON TO BE IN CAMP

Local Boards in Control Until Conscripts Reach Training Camps. Washington, Aug. 10.—Regulations under which men of the new National Army will be called to the colors September 1 were issued last night by Provost Marshal General Crowder.

BATTLE LINE IS FAIRLY SAFE FOR AMERICAN MEN

Death Rate in Trenches Only 60 in 1,000 a Year, Says Statistician. Figures culled by Roger W. Babson, the noted statistician, and published in the current issue of Babson's 'Weekly Reports.'

figures culled by Roger W. Babson, the noted statistician, and published in the current issue of Babson's 'Weekly Reports.' "Of course, it is very difficult to obtain reliable figures," says Mr. Babson, "but we understand that about 60 men per 1,000 are being killed in a year, and about 150 men out of each 1,000 are wounded, although most of these wounded return again to the trenches."

is very much less than in previous wars. "The mortality varies considerably with the different branches of service. A man who is connected with the heavy field artillery is no more likely to be killed than if in the employ of our railroads, but the fellows engaged in certain other branches are in much more danger. It is also said that the mortality among certain classes of officers, such as lieutenants, sergeants and corporals, is proportionally very much greater than among privates."

thousand troops and 10,000 or more aeroplanes in France, which should be some time next spring or summer. We, however, feel that by the time these men and aeroplanes are over Germany to stop until we are actually in Europe with self-supporting bases, prepared to strike hard; but we see every reason why Germany should be anxious to settle with us at that time, before we do strike.

Two hundred thousand of the first 657,000 men to be conscripted on September 1 and forwarded to their camps before September 5. The whole business of assembling the levies and entraining them, providing them with shelter, food and transportation, and giving them actual induction into military life is entrusted to the local boards which selected them for service. Until the men reach the camps they will not be in contact with uniformed officers. A control is carried forward through every stage of the draft, to the very gates of the military camps where the making of soldiers will be given to be completed within sound of the guns in France.

The actual call for men will go in each case from the Provost Marshal General to the State Adjutant General, giving the number of men to be supplied at a specified time by the state. Each local board will be promptly informed of its proportion in the call, and the Adjutant General will fix the date when men from his state shall entrain for the camps.

Boards to Issue Calls. Immediately the local boards will make out the list of men to be called from the roll of accepted men, and it will fix also the place of entrainment and the exact time of departure.

Orders to the men will be posted and also will be sent to them by mail. They will be directed to report to the local board at its headquarters not less than twelve hours or more than twenty-four hours before the time of departure for camp. From the time specified for reporting to the local board for military duty, the regulations state, "each man in respect of whom notice to report has been mailed shall be in the military service of the United States."

Prior to the arrival of the men at the board headquarters, the board members are instructed to make arrangements for their accommodation, to find clean and sanitary sleeping places at hotels and lodging houses, to arrange for their meals and to provide lodging and meal tickets to be taken in payment and redeemed for cash later by a government disbursing officer. In their discretion the boards may grant permission for the men to remain at their homes.

Arrived at the board headquarters at the hour fixed for reporting, the men will be drawn up, the roll called and agents of the board will take them personally to their quarters, remaining with them until every arrangement for their comfort has been made. Emphatic instructions are given that the quality of food furnished shall be good, and the board is held liable for seeing that meals are adequate.

First Military Ceremony. Retreat rolls at the board headquarters, set for 5.30 p. m. on the day of reporting to the board, will be the first military ceremony the drafted men pass through. The board members are directed to be present in person and to inform the men of their military status, impressing on them the fact that disobedience of orders is the gravest military crime. The light hand baggage containing toilet articles and a change of underclothing, which the men are permitted to take with them to camp, will be inspected by the board and the lists of men sent forward with copies of original registration cards prepared.

For each district five alternates will be summoned to the board headquarters, in addition to the men actually selected to fill the board quota. They will be held at the assembling place until the board has filled vacancies should any men of the levy fail to report.

Except for retreat rolls, the men will have no minutes before train time. The board will, during this interval, select one man from the levy and place him in charge of the party for the trip. He will name a second in command to aid him, and the other men will be told that the orders of these two must be obeyed under pain of military discipline.

The men in charge of the party will call the roll at the board headquarters just before train time. He will then line up the draft and accompanied by the board members, will march them to the station to entrain.

There a final verification of the list will be made and, if any man of the selected number is missing, an alternate will be sent forward in his place. The tickets, with camp tickets, all papers relating to the party, including the copies of registration cards, will be turned over to the man in command, and the party will start for its training camp.

Party Commander's Duties. It will be the duty of the commander of each party to watch over his men during the trip; to see none is left behind at any station; that all are fed regularly and that no liquor is furnished to or consumed by them; within six hours of the camp he will file a telegram to the camp adjutant general, notifying him of the time of arrival of the party and the departure of the train the local board will send a similar message.

Every precaution has been taken in advance to meet any emergency. Should a train be delayed by accident, the commander of each party will have proper telegraph blanks to report the fact to the camp adjutant general and to ask instructions.

After the departure of the levy for camp the local boards will turn to gathering up stragglers. If there is evidence of wilful violation of orders, the offenders will be reported to the Adjutant General of the Army as a deserter and the local board will be asked to arrest him on sight and turn him over to the nearest army post for trial. Where there was no intention to desert, however, and the missing man reports of his own will, the board will send him into the camp with an explanation and a recommendation as to his degree of his culpability.

Final Examination at Camp. Arrived at the camp the party will undergo final physical examination by army doctors. If any are rejected the local board will be notified and an alternate will be sent forward in each case. The name of a board will be regarded as filed only when the full number of men called for has been finally accepted.

Provision is made, also, for a strict accounting as to quotas, between the Federal government and

For the man who is picked for the national army the chances are 4 to 1 that he will see little actual fighting in Europe. If he reaches the firing line the chances of being killed are 60 in 1,000 in a year; of being wounded, 150 in 1,000. He will be less liable to disease than if he is working in a city. Furthermore, if he is connected with some branches of the service, such as the heavy field artillery, he is no more likely to be killed than if he were working on an American railroad. These are some of the comforting the Adjutants General in the first instance, and between the Adjutants General and the local boards in the second. Reports to show the standing of such accounts will be filed every ten days until every quota has been filled.

With the exception of wounds obtained during charges, which, of course, are very dangerous, most wounds are in the arm and shoulder, which can be easily healed, or in the skull. The skull wounds are naturally serious. Amputation of limbs

Little Serious Fighting. "We believe that the drafted man who goes as an ordinary soldier, taking his judgment with him and leaving his enthusiasm at home, is not only most effective, but is fairly sure to return in better physical condition than when he left. Of course, during the one or more days a month that it is his turn to charge, he is subject to great danger; but the rest of the time, with reasonable precautions, he is, statistically, almost as well off as in the streets of New York.

France, which, by the way, will be beneficial to many of them. Since, however, the aeroplane appropriation has passed, there is good chance that but few of them ever will be engaged in serious fighting. "We believe that the war will continue until we have several hundred
