DESIGNS "UNSINKABLE" SHIP

New York, Aug. 13.—John L. Bo-gert, a consulting engineer of this city, has designed an "unsinkable" city, has designed an "unsinkable" airplane-carrying ship to serve as a submarine destroyer. It resembles an ordinary merchant vessel with the upper decks cleared of masts, funnels rigging, etc., to provide a suitable runwaq and anchorage for the airplanes. A series of folding masts, funnels, etc., are placed on a lower deck to take the places of the ones usually seen.

lower deck to take the places of the ones usually seen.

Bogert's idea is for one of these destroyers or airplane "mither ships" to accompany fleets of merchant vessels, each fleet consisting of four merchantmen, and to equip it with enough planes to keep a constant patrol of the course. His design provides for the carrying of bombs by the airships.
