This ruling was made in regard This ruling was made in regard to the filing of claim petitions by the Swedish vice consul at Philadelphia, representative during the war of Austria-Hungary, so as to safeguard interests of dependants in Austria when any citizen of the empire was killed in Pennsylvania industry. Mr. Mackey says that while the compensation act provides for protection of dependants of aliens "it does not contemplate the tolling of the statute of limitations of one year as provided by the act except by the filing of a claim petition or the execution of a compensation agreement alleging ment the dependants of the deceased or a properly constituted representative may file a claim petition which must allege all the material facts necessary to an award and set out who are entitled to recovery because of dependency upon the deceased."

Mr. Mackey says, "The consular representative of Austria-Hungary annot tell the statute of limitations by filing a mere suggeston with the cannot tell the statute of limitations by filing a mere suggeston with the bureau that an Austro-Hungarian subject has been killed, who may have dependants in a foreign country. I am writing this letter so that the rights of no one will be defeated by relying upon the filing of any similar petition as proposed by the Austro-Hungarian consul's representative."
