Mr. Hall spent a few hours in tharrisburg last night and in a brief interview with a Telegraph representative outlined the purpose and plans of his organization. No more comprehensive movement to conserve the labor of the United States has ever been conceived. It is so eminently practical that many of the most influential business men of the country are co-operating in the work. Mr. Hall was chosen as head to fit be Boys' Club Federation of the United States and his service in the Belgian Commission with Herbert C. Hoover. He has large business interests, but these have been, subordinated to the duties which he has assumed at Washington.

"There are now 12,000 city boys at work on farms in New York," said Washington.

In the shortage of labor which is coming—which already exists—the copys must be the obvious supply. These boys will be paid from $20 to 550 a month and as a further incentive we are supplying badges which hear the United States coat of arms—service stripes will be given from ear to year.

"The Federal government has established the Boys' Working Reserve so that there may be a unification of all efforts. Because all of the United States is at war as a nation it is imperative that any mobilizing of labor to meet the war emergency shall be a co-ordinate effort so that the labor may be used at the point where it is most vitally needed. It is also highly important that we have uniform standards of employment. We are building for a more or more. The factories and other industries have steadily drained the fields of labor until there must be some organized effort to supply the deficit. While it is the intention of the Reserve to enroll for industry, as well as agriculture, the most important problem before us at the present time is that of supplying boys to the farm."

Emerging from a conference room with his coat and vest off and his sieeves rolled up. Dr. Harry A. Garfield, the newly appointed coal dictator, made this emphatic announcement when he was informed that certain retailers throughout the united States had declared their intention of keeping coal prices at their present high level.

Dr. Garfield ande it clear that if necessary to carry through the benefits to the consumer the government, would take over the mines. He warned the public that the government would not have its purpose thwarted on any technical grounds. "This much you may be certain of coal prices are going to be lower to the consumer," Dr. Garfield added.
