

STATE WILL SELL BIG PEACH CROP

Bureau of Markets Undertakes to Put 32,500 Bushels Into Consumers' Hands

One hundred carloads, or 32,500 bushels, of peaches from the famous peach districts of Adams and Franklin counties are offered to the consumers of Pennsylvania through direct purchase by the bureau of markets, recently established by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

For the past week a survey of the peach crop has been made and many growers have listed their supply with the bureau of markets for disposal. It is the purpose of the bureau to bring the consumer in direct touch with producers and the first quotations issued today cover the peach crop. They are:

One hundred carloads of two-inch minimum machine graded, quality selected, carefully packed, packed and iced; about 325 bushels to car, in half for bushel baskets. Belles, now shipping, to September 1.

Elbertas, ready September 1 to September 15.

Smock, ready September 15 to September 25.

All are freestone and all are yellow, except Belles, which are white. Prices can be obtained and shipping arrangements made by community organizations, clubs or by dealers, by writing or wiring Bureau of Markets, Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, Pa.

The bureau of markets has made an exhaustive survey of the potato crop conditions and advises farmers not to hold potatoes too long, if they are offered a fair selling price. The same is true of other crops.

There is danger that outside supplies may be shipped into the state later than the local crop. It is the duty of the bureau, the Department of Agriculture and the Food Committee of the Pennsylvania Public Safety Committee, that farmers should market a fair percentage of their crop at once if they are able to obtain fair prices.

Rotten Egg Law Violated—Several prominent Pittsburgh business men and firms have been caught in the rotten egg business through a campaign which is being extended throughout Allegheny county by the agents of the dairy and food bureau of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Prosecutions were to-day ordered by Commissioner Foust, who declared that he would break up the rotten egg traffic in Pittsburgh if an aggressive campaign and repeated prosecutions would bring the guilty ones from cover. The prosecutions do not cover any of the cold storage houses, but extend to the men and firms who have offered and stored consignments of liquid or canned eggs for storage.

Reason for Exemption—Unless one of the district draft appeal boards in the western part of the state comes to the rescue, the bookkeeping and tax record system in operation in the Auditor General's department is going to go all to smash. One of the department clerks employed in this bureau of the department, residing in the western county, had the good fortune to be drafted, and he passed the examination so successfully that he is in a fair way to wear Uncle Sam's uniform, and he has appealed to the district board to exempt him. If the board does not need his appeal, then it is to be laid at the board's door that it disarranged the State's financial system, that is, if the drafted clerk is to be believed. In his letter to the district board, claiming exemption, he says: "The work done by claimant is of a technical character, to which he is especially trained. Claimant is thoroughly familiar with the system which he personally installed, and over which he has supervision. The work done by claimant is of vast importance to the efficiency and successful administration of the department, and his training makes his service indispensable. The settlement system which he has installed is the key to the bookkeeping and tax record system of the Auditor General's department. He cannot be replaced by another person without substantial and material loss in the adequate effective operation of said Auditor General's department. His services are indispensable for the reason that one of his assistants has already been taken from this work and is now in the military service of the United States. The department would be seriously retarded and impaired if said claimant were taken, as it would require a long time to train anyone for the position during which the financial and analytical records would accumulate to such an extent that the department would materially suffer and be confused. Just whether the district exemption board will consider the claimant's petition for exemption as potent, the object being the saving of trouble for the State's financial operations, is to be determined. Auditor General Snyder does not appear to be worried over the outlook, but has not been heard from as to whether he will interfere to save the one "slacker on Capitol Hill" whose services are indispensable."

Ask For Blanks—Many applications for blanks for the registration of firms operating under assumed names or names concealing the names of the actually interested parties being received at the capitol. A new law requires registration of these.

Complain of Rates—H. J. Bennett, of Renovo, to-day complained to the Public Service Commission that the rates of the Renovo Heating company are excessive.

Pardon Applications—Pardon applications, clubs or by dealers, by writing or wiring Bureau of Markets, Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, Pa.

Berlin Press Demands Removal of Michaelis

Copenhagen, Aug. 28.—The possibility of another change in the imperial chancellor in Germany is discussed by George Bernhart in the Vossische Zeitung. He says it is plainly evident already that the appointment of a minor official like Dr. Michaelis without general political experience, was a great mistake, and that the results desired are not apt to be reached quickly under the leadership of the new administration.

CHIEF GARDNER IS DISMISSED

Eight Councilmen Fire Former Justice From His Job; Best Interests of Borough

Thomas V. Gardner, who accepted the position of chief of the borough police, June 18, was dismissed last night at a special meeting of eight out of ten of the members composing the Steelton borough council. The vote on the dismissal of Chief Gardner was unanimous on the part of the eight councilmen present. Councilmen Charles Reisch and Frederick Wagenbach, supporters of Chief Gardner, were unable to be present at last night's meeting.

The reason assigned by Thomas J. Nelly, president of council, for the dismissal of Chief Gardner, was that it was "for the best interests of the borough." President Nelly also stated that council confirmed the appointment of Guy Behner as policeman and that Sergeant Hand was appointed temporary chief of police until the police committee could pick a successor to Gardner.

Opposition Outspoken
Opposition to Chief Gardner developed soon after he was appointed to the position. The first outspoken opposition came from Gardner's literal enforcement of the new borough traffic ordinance in which the rich and poor were treated alike and speed limits, as provided for by this ordinance, were summed before Lawrence Wiegand, and in most instances were fined.

Gardner's efforts to enforce this ordinance some of the most influential men of the borough were called upon to advise against the closing of a number of vile resorts which have flourished on the West Side unheeded for some time.

Chief Gardner, when located this morning, declared he did not know what charges were preferred against him at last night's meeting and the only comment he would make for publication was this: "Every move I made in my police work has been with the intention of improving conditions in Steelton."

Councilman McEntee, chairman of the borough police committee could not be located this morning. Quincy Bent, general manager of the Steelton Steel Company, was out of town to-day and no comment on council's action could be secured from him for this reason. Bent is greatly interested in maintaining good order in the borough and it is alleged that he recently complimented Chief Gardner on the great improvement in the police action, since Gardner assumed office.
