TO LET CONTRACT FOR COAL HAULING

School Board Will Take Action September 7; Approve Open Air School Plans

Final action on the question of let-ting a contract for hauling coal from the railroad yards to the various schoolbuildings probably will be taken at the meeting of the school board or September 7.

on September 7.

At a special session yesterday afternoon the directors discussed the reported attempts of a number of Harrisburg dealers to force the board to pay at least $2 a ton to have the coal delivered. Secretary D. D. Hamelbaugh was authorized to get more definite information from all dealers, and he is considering a plan to have the various men submit proposals in writing.

weight of the coal purchased from the dealers—2,000 or 2,240 pounds per ten. President Warner explained the district coal supply is bought direct from the mines and the retailers have nothing to do with furnishing it except to haul it.

Plans for the open-air school to be built at Fifth agil Seneca streets were approved by the board and S. Howard Lloyd was paid $1,050 for the first part of his work. Bids will be opened September 21 and the erection of the building will be started as soon as possible. Requests will be made in the bidding for bids on four varieties of trimming. The board authorized the installation of gas for cooking at the Steel building. The Harrisburg Gas Company will make the installation at a cost of $100.

THE RUBE'S RETURN

Any lingering doubt that Rube Marquard has returned to the winning fold has been scattered to the far winds by this year's work.

The spectacular Rube rose to terrific heights during the days of 1911 and 1912. He began to skid badly around 1914 and 1915. He was then thought to be on his way out, although still well under 30.

But last season he reappeared from the mists, soon began to make winning motions and point back toward the old days.

This spurt was thought to be a mere flash—largely because the Rube was toiling with a pennant winning club.

GAINING AND HOLDING
A high place in any sport is gained only by the hardest sort of work—rarely by any natural gift.
Practice, practice and more practice usually tells the story. Norris
Williams, unable to practice, found himself unable to regain his old place in the finals.
A day or two ago we were talking about the erratic tendencies of a fine golfer. "The reason for this erratic work," remarked a friend, "is imple enough. He has quit practicing. He may have a 74 one afternoon and a few days later he may be lucky to get around in 85."
It not only takes hard work to reach the top—it takes even harder work to hold it for any length of time.

After watching moving pictures of British tanks in action, you can officially deny the old rumor that Ted Coy or Jim Thorpe hold the records for line hitting power.

Any line the tank hits is the "line of least resistance."
