APPEAL BOARD IS RAPIDLY UNWINDING RED TAPE TANGLE

Reports From Draft Boards Coming in Better Shape; District Committees Progressing With Work: No. 2 Calls Three Hundred More; Don't Know Yet Who Will Go First From Here

The situation at the headquarters of the District Appeal Board of the Middle Judicial District is at last beginning to assume a clearer aspect. Ever since the drafting started in this district the work has been more or less hampered by the lack of information and the detail necessary in order to solve the problems that were confronted.

So much apparently unnecessary 'red tape' has to be cut that the district board and the local boards are at a loss as to the correct way of procedure.

on the first bunch." As this is practically the sentiment of the majority of the men that have passed and refused to claim exemption, the chances of Dauphin county doing its bit on September 5 are bright.

Nearly everything is in readiness at the various local boards for sending away the men. The boards have been furnished with all the details that go with the departure of the first contingent.

quarters in the Dauphin building at Market Square. Thursday the board exemption, while twentw-two signified that they were going to file claims; twelve were rejected. This board certified sixty-six on August 29 and was the first board to file its report with the appeal board. During the next week the board will not hold any examinations but will prepare a detailed report of all their work. To-day the third call for 300 more men was sent out and these men will report as soon as the board sends out notices that it will start examining them. It is expected that they will begin the week starting September 9.

Some Want to Go Now Chairman Arthur H. Balley of this board stated this morning that he did not know just who would be in the first contingent to leave this city on the fifth. Many of the men who did not claim exemption have written to him asking that they be included in the first sent. One man wrote from New Jersey expressing an earnest desire to be sent away first.

First Board Cleaning Up

At Steelton the work of the draft board is being carried on with rapid strides and by to-night the last of the second call of the first quota are expected to be examined. To date official reports of the examinations of the first 517 men have been received. Of this number 156 have been accepted as passed; 114 are still under adbisement while the rmainder 270 have been discharged as physically unfit. To-night the examination of the last of the 400 men of the second call will conclude the work of the board which is not expected to call any more men.

The names of twenty-seven men

is not expected to call any more men.

The names of twenty-seven men were certified by the board and sent to the adjutants office in Washington were picked at random and sent in order that sufficient number might be in readiness to leave with the first contingent. The Bethlehem Steel Company has served notice on the Board that they will only claim exemption for ten men. These claims will be made for industrial purposes. Whether or not the ten men are among those sent in the list of certified names, or whether or not they have been rejected or are still under advisement is not known. The board to-day examined 30 men. Six did not pass; 13 claimed exemption, and 11 did not. After to-day the board will commence to act on the exemption claims and it is not very probable that any more men will be called.

In Mighty Bad Shape

When is a man fit for military service or when is he not? is the question that is bothering a man who was drafted from Cumberland County. Walking into the head-quarters of the Appeal Board, said man stated that he was unfit for duty although the doctors that examined him passed him as physically fit. "Those doctors don't know what they are talking about," said the man. "I am troubled with cronic maestoditis, chronic rheumatism and heart leesion. I have also other minor trouble, but still those doctors say that I am fit. What I want is another examination that is all." In spite of the fact that the man was positive he was unfit from the latest report the best he can hope for is a general's job at the training camp.

Analysis of the alist of slackers latest report the best he can hope for is a general's job at the training camp.

Analysis of the tilst of slackers given out yesterday morning by the District No. 1 Draft Board with headquarters in the Electric Light building, 49 North Front street, Steelton, shows that 98 per cent. of the names belong to foreign born and colored men, now residing in that borough, and that the name of but one American born white man appeared on the list.

The latter, whose name was given as Harry Tuptanosky, residing at 613 North Third street, Steelton, is not a slacker, but is an enlisted man, having enlisted shortly after he was registered in June. Neither Harry, nor any member of his family notified the local board of this fact and when he was summoned for physical examination and failed to appear, his name was placed in the list with other borough slackers.

First to Go

The draft board of division three which meets at Elizabethville today sent in the list of the men who have been sent pink tickets and are requested to report September 5 as the first men to be sent from that district into the new Army. rille, and Leon Cooper, Powls Valley.

These men will report at the Dauphin building in Market Square and from there they will be sent on their way to Camp Meade where they will be enrolled in the United States Army. This district is required to send seven men with the first contingent. Leon Cooper has been named as alternate and will be on hand in case any of the others cannot be ready.

The board has ceased examining and is at present busy preparing reports for the appeal board. Examinations will be continued on Tuesday when sixty will be called. The board will then await the decisions of the upper board before calling any extra men. Four hundred and forty men have been acted upon to date.

Call 300 More

and forty men have been acted upon to date.

Call 300 More

The draft board for the second district, with headquarters at Paxtang, to-day issued a third call for 300 more men. This brings the total number for this district up to 867. Thursday 66 men had received notices from the second district board that they should make preparation to leave soon for the training camp at Camp Meade.
