THE CASE OF THE TWO SOX

from any other club in baseball. They play the game of their lives when real importance attaches to victory.

But it would seem that Boston's only hope is to make the best use of its pitchers in the approaching final series between the two Sox. Chicago has been far more successful at home than on the road to date. Yet, Boston need look for little assistance from the other three Eastern cities. In Cleveland and Detroit two hard series are bound to confront the world's champions while the Windy City boys are finding softer game on this end of the circuit.

Smart baseball managers declare that Boston is not playing nearly so effectively as one year ago. This may be due to the general decline that is bound to hit the best clubs in the end. The cast of the world's champions is much the same as that which won the pennant and greater title in 1912. Speaker, Wagner, Stahl and Carrigan have gone. Seven years is a long time to keep any baseball machine in gear. If Boston can win its third consecutive pennant it will have accomplished a great deal more than any modern team, with the exception of Connie Mack's Athletic of 1910-1914.

A CHANCE FOR THE BOXERS A CHANCE FOR THE BOXERS

Local managers of pugilists can help a god cause by sending their young men to Plattsburg to help entertain the embryo officers on Saturday nights. This is the only evening the students have for pleasure and recreation, and it is planned to hold a series of boxing exhibitions each week-end. Jimmy Johnston, the boy bandit of St. Nicholas Rink, sent Joe Welling and Ted "Kid" Lewis to Plattsburg last Saturday to help furnish a fine evening's entertainment for some 4,000 prospective officers. Fight managers who care to assist in this worthy enterprise should communicate with W. O. McGeehan, of Company 10, Plattsburg, N. Y.

West End is again city champions. In all the series played the Householder crew was never headed. Reading had a team of stars and they went a fast pace in the Allison Hill League, but could not meet the gait set by the winners. Players on both teams are deserving of much praise. They gave local fans good baseball.

Hagerstown captured the Blue Ridge flag after a hard race. Martinsburg, the runners-up, fell down the last two weeks. Charges are made that Hagerstown went ahead of the salary limit. However, Hagerstown has all season shown a persistent pace, the kind that wins in the end.
