Harrisburg Engineers Go Into Active Service

Captain Theodore Seelye and Lieu-Captain Theodore Seelye and Lieutenant Richard Knibloe left this morning for the camp of engineers located between Washington and Georgetown. They will be under intensive training for several weeks and it is expected that both will be sent with the corps of engineers to France. Captain Seelye is a member of the firm of consulting engineers of which Farley Gannett is head and with which Captain Samuel W. Fleming, also in the service, is identified. Both the young officers who left this morning are popular and go away with the best wishes of many friends.
