ENGLAND SHELLED BY SUBMARINES

More bombs appear to have fallen in the streets than hit buildings. The Chronicle estimates that eight or ten raiders visited London. There were two separate attacks over the London district, the second occurring about 1 o'clock this morning. Some people claim to have seen a dozen airplanes but they were quickly driven off in the haze. After dropping bombs the raiders flew seaward. One machine was located by searchlights at an estimate height of 9,000 feet. It was severely shelled and on-lookers declare it was hit. At the same time British airplanes were seen maneuvering for attack on the raiders.

One thing that is advanced for the reported evacuation is that the German command, dreading the effect of the next drive is preparing to "hook" the present line by diverting water from the river Scheldt, thus blocking allied progress. Another supposition is that the Germans lacking the men to hold the present lines firmly enough are preparing for another strategic retreat.

Russian Women Soldiers Throw Selves Into Thick of Battle to Shame Men

London, Sept. 5.—The press bureau in a semi-official Russian communication says in part: "The catastrophe at Riga was not wholly unexpected; measures for the evacuation of the city were taken before the passage of the Germans across the Dvina near Uxkull. Artillery of heavy caliber on the left bank was used to throw the enemy out of position during the last week. After the Dvina was forced the order was given to expedite the evacuation of Riga. A train was unloading left under German artillery fire. The Russian troops withdrawing from Riga are holding up the enemy's pressure. Several units have shown exceptional valor, repulsing German counterattacks with the bayonet. The First Battalion of Death (composed of women) particularly distinguished itself, throwing itself into the fray at the most critical moment and throwing back and pursuing the enemy nearly three kilometers in spite of the losses they had sustained. The example set by the battalion inspired the other units. General Novitsky personally directed the attacks."

British Drop Many Tons of Explosives on German War Centers in Belgium

London, Sept. 5.—Many tons of bombs have been dropped in further raids on German war establishments in Belgium, causing large fires. Many tons of explosives were dropped with good results. "A second raid on the Bruges dock was made a noon, September 4. Direct hits were observed on special targets. Many sheds along the quayside were hit, and large fires which were burning until still seen to be burning when the machines recrossed the line. All our machines returned from both raids. "In the afternoon, the third instant, an enemy aircraft was engaged by one of our patrols and shot down. An enemy kite balloon also was attacked and the observer was forced to jump out. "Owing to the antiaircraft fire, the fate of the balloon was not observed."
