AVERAGES SHOW COBB LEADING

Wilmington Feature

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 8.—Racing that surpassed anything of the kind ever before witnessed in this city was the big feature yesterday at the Delaware State Fair, at Waukesa Park, when a double card was presented, due to the postponement of yesterday's events because of the muddy condition of the track. In the first place, Harry J. Stoeckle, of this city, established a world's trotting record for a stallion on a half-mile track. On August 14 last this horse at Goshen, N. Y., had to trot the same distance in 2:07.4. Yesterday he established a new record by negotiating the two circuits in 2:07.4. The world's half-mile track record was previously held by Willie, made at Goshen, N. Y., when he stepped the mile in 2:07.4. The previous record for the local track was 2:12, held by Dr. Chase.

Army Coaches Meet, Take Up Big Plans; Walter Camp Present

Princeton, Sept. 8.—Twenty-five coaches prominent in the college athletic world, now in the service of the Government as athletic directors of various camps in this part of the country, were called together by Dr. Joseph E. Rowcroft, supervising head of the Princeton camp, for a conference at Princeton University yesterday afternoon. This was the first meeting of the kind, and all the directors received instructions and suggestions for organizing the sporting activities of Uncle Sam's boys.

Will Cable Description of World's Series Games

Chicago, Sept. 8.—American troops training under Major General Pershing in France are to receive a detailed cable description of the world's series games, President Johnson, of the American League, said last night. These stories probably one thousand words will be cabled daily at the conclusion of the games. The National Baseball Commission will stand the expense.

Lower Aquatic Records in Honolulu Matches

Honolulu, Sept. 8.—Norman Ross, San Francisco, and Claire Galligan, New York, broke records in swimming contests here yesterday, sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union. Ross clipped two seconds off Lucy Langer's best mark in setting a new American record of 15 minutes 27.5 seconds for the 850. Miss Galligan set a new American mark for the 440. Kahanamoku took the national title for the Ladies, 50 yards—Dorothy Burns, Los Angeles, first; Josephine Hopkins, Honolulu, second; Ger Horth, Honolulu, third. Time, 30 2-5 seconds.

Gunboat Smith Winner

At New York last night Gunboat, with outfight Frank Moran in a round bout, Smith is anxious to meet Fred Fulton.

FAIR CHAMPION IS KNOWN HERE

Mrs. L. G. Vogel Leading Woman Trapshooter; Is Native of Lancaster

By PETER P. CARNEY

Editor National Sports Syndicate

The new trapshooting champion among the fair sex is Mrs. L. G. Vogel, of Detroit, Mich.

Vogel is no special event to decide the women's trapshooting championship at this year's grand American trapshooting tournament, as there was in St. Louis last year, therefore the title is passed to Mrs. Vogel by reason of her score of 83 breaks from 18 yards in the grand American handicap. It was the top score made by the fair Dianias in this competition.

Mrs. Vogel for several years has been recognized as the best of the women trapshooters, amateurs, of course, for without question Mrs. Topperwein is the ranking trapshot among the fair sex. Mrs. "Topp" is a professional.

When Mrs. Vogel took up with the sport of trapshooting ten years ago she determined to become the best of the women amateur trapshooters in the United States. When a woman makes up her mind to succeed she usually does what she sets out to accomplish. Mrs. Vogel realized out of the woman's championship event last year because she desired the other Dianias of the traps to have a little tournament of their own.

Shooting has always been a hobby with the Detroit woman. She shot at live birds as Anna Reicker, of the biggest state championship, Mrs. Vogel is a thorough sportswoman, a firm believer in fair play and clean sport. She takes as good care of herself at trapshooting as she does at an athlete does in preparing for a foot race. She retires never later than 9 o'clock and is up and around before 7 a. m., and enjoys a walk before breakfast.

Butt Hale's New Record

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 8.—Butt Hale, the brown gelding in the exhibition made at Goshen, N. Y., when he stepped the mile in 2:07.4. The previous record for the local track was 2:12, held by Dr. Chase.

Turn Down Pete Herman

New Orleans, Sept. 8.—The district exemption board has refused exemption to Peter Gulotta, known in the sporting world as Pete Herman, claimant to the world's bantamweight championship. His parents had appealed from the local board on the ground that their son was their sole support and that they were aged and infirm. The board held that Gulotta had sufficient funds to care for his parents.

Notwithstanding Odds Against Them

Notwithstanding odds against them in not having a large number of candidates, the Central High school squad will get into the field to make a season's record. The spirit of Central is just as enthusiastic as ever, and the faculty members with Paul G. Smith, as coach, are confident that a winning team is possible. This spirit was shown yesterday at a mass meeting of students at which Principal Howard G. Dibble made an address urging the hearty co-operation of all students in making the season successful and to give the strongest support possible.

WHEREIN WE ASK YOU— When you're blue, and stale, and moping And the clouds begin to gather— When you feel beyond all hoping And you haven't got a ladder— When you see what Fate is after And you sense, amid the blend, That you've known your final laughter, And you wonder how he permits it— When misfortune makes its levy 'Till you're seeing purple spots, When you find the load is heavy And that life is full of knots— When they've broken up your bidding With the burden on your back, When they seem to have you skidding On a dark and lonesome track— When in short, Fate has you reeling With a more than halting tread, And that dopy, dizzy feeling As of flutrons on your head— You perhaps think, where the bubbles Seem to gather closer in, That I'll say, "Forget your troubles— Start a whistle, or a grin?" Nothing to it. You can grind a Bitter dirge all through the night; But I'm asking—could you find a Finer time to rise and fight? While in short, Fate has you reeling All the dirges in your throat, But arise and say "I'll show 'em Who's the master of my goat!"

Football players who have been taught to play low in the line should appreciate their instruction when they reach the first line trench.

"Have any umpires gone to war?" queries an exchange. Where else does an umpire ever go?

There is one neat detail about Colonel Bill Donovan's blessed Yanks—you don't have to go out and find a strain for them to crack under.

Most of the game's pluggers have had their chance to display their wares in world series warfare.

Other have all been beneath October's white light of fame. This will be Joe Jackson's first shot at the jubilee, provided, of course, the White Sox win.

Jackson has no forests on fire this season, but he still stands next to Cobb with the best average over a long span. Through last season his total allotment was above .350. He is still in the .350 class over the full route.

While he hasn't reached .350 this year, there is always the chance that in a big series he might make up the deficit, for, beyond any doubt, he has the wallop and the eye.

Jess Willard should hire Carl Morris to enter the circus, and enter a daily bout with a trained goat. In this capacity the energetic Carl should find suitable company for a big butting jamboree.

The White Sox start Eket in a few days, but according to most authentic reports available they will have to get out a search warrant for a strain before they can crack under it.

Here's another use for Carl Morris—why not send him to the front line, in France, as a Human Tractor, to butt his way through German trenches and barbed wire?

REVISED

Said Benny Kauff to Benny Cobb, "Next year, old top, I'll grab your job!" Said Tyrus Cobb to Benny Kauff, "You make me laugh, you make me laugh."

First call for "McGrath undecided who will pitch first game."

NEW RULES BAR COACHES FROM LINE TACTICS

The latest revision of the football rules, edited by Walter Camp, Yale football coach, has one new feature which will do away with one of the most objectionable features the game has developed during the past few seasons. This is the new rule which prohibits an incoming substitute from communicating with his team on the field until after the first play on the field. The big gridiron lines the substitute substitute was carried on to unreasonable extremes. It was no uncommon sight to see a substitute sent from the side lines with information at a critical point of a game.

Sideline coaching has been a subject with which the rule makers have been grappling for the last few seasons. First, the sidelines were cleared of the many assistant coaches and scouts, who used to crowd both sides of the field at the important games. The freedom of head coach was also restricted, and when the new rules permitted frequent substitutions, these players were used as a means of conveying information from the coaches to the players on the field. Gradually the initiative was taken from the players until the game was rapidly becoming a contest of automatons, which moved about at the beck and call of the coach on the sidelines.

Prohibiting this objectionable feature will tend to throw the football play back into the hands of the players and will develop strategy which heretofore has been dependent on sideline observation. There is but one exception to this rule and that is in the case of the quarterback. If the substitute replaces the quarterback, he is permitted to give the signal, but he is not permitted to communicate with the players until after the first play.

The new restriction which has been placed on the forward pass will increase the value of this important play. One of the dangerous features of the forward pass has been the liability of the receiver of the ball being roughed. A new rule this season provides that when a player interferes with a player attempting to catch the forward pass, the penalty will be the loss of the ball to the offended side, at the spot where the foul was committed.

The placekick has been more clearly defined in the new code, and the play must be made by kicking the ball from its position where resting on the ground. This does away with the use of artificial tees such as were used in some of the games last season. In one or two contests placekicks were made by placing a headgear on the ground and kicking the ball while it rested on the headgear. Gradually the rules makers are eliminating the objectionable features of the gridiron game. In the present edition of the rules the committee points out that the rules as they stand to-day should be allowed to crystallize as nearly as possible in their present form.

Holding is one violation of the rules which has never been rigidly enforced. There is no feature of the game which calls for more penalties during a game than holding. In pointing out the importance of eliminating this feature from the game, the committee has incorporated in the rule book, under the interpretation of the code, the following: "Holding is prohibited by the rules because it does not belong in the game of football. It is an unfair play. It eliminates skill. The slowest man in the world can make a forty-yard run in every play if the rest of his teammates would hold their opponents long enough. The game is to advance the ball by strategy, skill, and speed, without holding your opponent. Perhaps a good game could be invented the object of which would be to advance the ball as far as possible with the assistance of holding your opponents, but it would not be football."

WELLY'S CORNER

Plans for sending scores of the World's Series to the boys at front will be good news for the "Sammys." They want to know what is going on at home and the quickest way to get to them is by cable.

The Phils and Giants had another even break yesterday. Splitting doubleheaders is not helping the Pat Moran crowd to overtake New York's lead.

Indications are that Martinsburg's protest against Hagerstown getting the pennant is a good one. Winning a pennant by unfair means is not real sportsmanship. Hagerstown may be able to prove a contract with their twirler who won most of the games, but unless a regular contract is shown those games should not stand. President Jamison of the Blue Ridge League appears to be in bad just now.

Two games were scheduled to-day. The Midway A. C., weather permitting expected to play a farewell game with Company 1. Troop C team had a battle scheduled with the Firemen and Enginemen. Old Jupiter Pluvius was in charge and looked like a sure winner.

Alleging that Hansen Horsey, former Reading Tristate pitcher, who won seven games for Hagerstown of the Blue Ridge League during the past season, had not regularly signed a contract, Martinsburg filed a protest with the president of the league against awarding the pennant to Hagerstown.

Reading fans have seen their last State League baseball of the season. George Witze wired home that the team would not return to this city to play its final games at the Circus Maximus on Friday and Saturday. Instead, the games have been transferred to Elmira, where the locals will finish its 1917 campaign on Sunday. Immediately after Sunday's game, the Reading players will leave for their various homes, while Manager Witze will return to this city to clear up the local business end of the club before leaving for his home in Syracuse, N. Y.—Reading Eagle.
