

THOUSANDS PAY TRIBUTE TO GUARDSMEN

Whole City, With Large Delegations From Nearby Towns, Turns Out to Give Final Honors to Boys Who Go to Camp Hancock to Prepare For Battlefields of Europe; Cheers Mingle With Tears as Soldiers Go Swinging by on Way to Trains

LET the bells and whistles echo as the troop train pulls away, Time enough will come for weeping, only smiles and cheers today! They are going to defend us, young and clean, the pick of men, And our hearts are going with them, sticking by them to the end. Let us whisper hurried "home talk" as the troop train gathers steam, Some forgotten little message that had caused a troubled dream. Let us say how much we envy those who wear the khaki tan And regret we're not included in the Army's general plan. Let us wave a final greeting as the long troop train pulls out Showing how the town they're leaving sends them off without a doubt Knowing they are finer mettle, truer blue than others are, More Steadfast. Because WE love them, they are better lads by far.

ANNA HAMILTON WOOD.

The demonstration given by the city this afternoon in honor of the Companies of the Eighth Regiment which have been encamped for some weeks at Hargest Island, is one of the most remarkable ever held in this section of the country.

Thousands of persons lined the sidewalks since the early afternoon. The ringing of bells and blowing of whistles at two o'clock was a signal for the gathering of an immense throng.

All the demonstration accorded Company D upon their departure was a splendid one, this city surpassed all previous efforts this afternoon.

Martial music, waving flags and the steady tramp of feet were out items in the remarkable parade this afternoon, when civil, military and religious orders joined in a tribute to the soldier boys who are sacrificing their all upon their country's altar.

Harrisburg is to-day paying tribute to the brave boys of this city and vicinity who leave this afternoon for Camp Hancock, near Augusta, Georgia, where they will spend some months in intensive training before leaving for France. Realizing that some of the boys who are leaving to-day will be called upon to give that "last full measure of devotion" in the service of their country, the entire city turns out to bid them Godspeed as they go upon their way.

Harrisburg is proud of her sons this day. They are a fine manly-looking company, and the fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers, wives and sweethearts will never have occasion to hang their heads in shame when reports are received from old-world battlefields, of engagements in which the Eighth Regiment plays a prominent part.

Hearts go out to the mothers who give up their sons to-day, in the crowds lining the sidewalks this afternoon are some wives of soldier husbands, with little ones by their sides. Those who are parting with dear ones, some for the last time, perhaps, may welcome the knowledge that no matter what the story of the future, no matter what scenes Harrisburg may witness when the boys of the Eighth Regiment and Troop C come marching home, to-day this city claims every departing soldier boy as her own.

Many Stores Closed Most of the business houses of Harrisburg are closed this afternoon in honor of the boys who are leaving Harrisburg for the Southern training camp. Several days ago the city was complete for making to-day's demonstration the most remarkable ever held in this section of the country and the business men of this city have exerted every effort to make their part in the affair a huge success.

SCENES ON THE ISLAND AS THE BOYS RAZED CAMP

In a few hours the tented city had been razed, guns stacked with blanket rolls upon them and the equipment placed on trucks preparatory to removal to the station. Above are shown one of the trucks loaded with "duffle" and to the side Captain Jenkins, commander of Company I, and Lieutenant Charles W. Thomas. Below is a view of the camp after the tents had been taken down.

DESPERATE HAND-TO-HAND BATTLE RESULTS IN DRAW

Italians and Austrians Fight on Even Terms; Germans Withdraw

By Associated Press Udine, Italy, Sept. 9.—The fight against the heights northeast of Gorizia continues night and day, during good and bad weather. The continued contest seems to the observer to be animated by superhuman force, the Italians and the Austrians almost constantly engaged in hand-to-hand encounters.

A strange situation is brought about by the two forces, virtually equal in numbers, strength and determination, struggling for supremacy in circumstances where it is impossible for either side to employ more men or artillery. Gaps in the ranks are instantly filled and thus the conflicting forces remain so balanced that victory apparently is impossible to either side. The fierceness of the struggle is indicated by the fact that in five hours the Italians attacked the enemy five times.

French Push Ahead General Potemkin's troops last night clinched the success they won north-east of Verdun on Saturday, when they pushed their lines ahead materially in the Fosse and Charrieres wood sector. The Germans were obliged to abandon their furious assaulting tactics of the day, probably because of the heavy losses they sustained in attacks which left the French lines unshaken.

Paris characterizes the repulse sustained by the crown prince here as an "import" one, one dwells upon the extremely serious extent of the casualties inflicted by the French fire.

English Are Busy There were only raiding operations on the remainder of the French army's front and there was a similar sort of activity of a major sort along the British lines. General Haig's troops, however, put in a busy night in consolidating the positions taken by them yesterday northwest of St. Quentin in the neighborhood of Harcourt, London announces. Berlin, however, declares that this ground was retaken by the Germans early to-day.

The Macedonian fighting is again assuming importance. On the extreme west of the front the French have apparently massed a considerable force. Yesterday they reported occupying several villages in the Mallik region and the German air corps to-day admits that "Toulotte" forces there were obliged to retreat before superior French pressure.

German advance in the Riga region is definitely halted, according to indications in the current reports. The only events reported there today by Berlin are clashes between Russian raiding parties and German reserves.

SWEDEN TO GET CHANCE TO KEEP OUT OF THE WAR

Recall of Minister to Buenos Aires May Prevent Break

Washington, Sept. 10.—While relations between this country and Sweden are tense as a result of the sensational disclosures made by the State Department, there is an undercurrent of opinion in the capital that the unstatesmanlike action of the Swedish minister in Buenos Aires will be disavowed by his own government and that he will be recalled and reprimanded. If this be done promptly, there is little likelihood that Sweden will be plunged into the war.

The obvious result in that case will be a recall of the Swedish minister to Buenos Aires.

Argentina Closes Eyes to Sweden's Treachery Buenos Aires, Sept. 10.—Argentine officials, according to newspaper accounts, to-day are still unable to believe that the dispatches sent to Berlin through the Swedish legation here were accurately translated.

A rupture in diplomatic relations with Germany is not anticipated at present. The Argentine government preferring, it is said, to consider the affair a personal one between the German and Swedish representatives.

WEDS SO HE CAN MAKE ANOTHER TRY FOR EXEMPTION

That the old adage "Where there's a will, there's a way," holds good today was proved by the actions of a young "farmer" from Northampton county who had been passed by his local board of exemption. When first examined the young "killer of the soil" proved to be a worthy subject for the Army of Uncle Sam. Struck in limbs, and with a chest expansion that of any of the other subjects, he was passed as physically fit.

Riot Narrowly Averted When Guardsmen Are Called Slackers by Greek

A riot was averted at the Manhattan restaurant, 317 Market street, Saturday night, by the arrival of a member of the State Police, and the assistance of police from the local force. An immense crowd had gathered in the street in front of the restaurant, and only the prompt and effective measures adopted by the officers of the law prevented serious trouble.

Two Guardsmen, stationed here, entered the restaurant in civilian clothes and ordered food, for which they refused to pay, according to on-lookers. The young men are Wayne Jeffries, of Harrisburg, and George G. Wren, of Steelton. Both are connected with the Sanitary Unit.

The trouble that resulted drew a crowd, and it was while there was considerable talking among soldiers on the sidewalk that a Greek employe of the restaurant came to the door and made a statement regarding slackers. Hundreds of soldiers had gathered. Officer Davis, of the State Police, ordered the Guardsmen to appear before court this afternoon or forfeit $25 each. After a time the crowd was dispersed without other incident.

Hundreds of persons have besieged the police headquarters today, asking that the young man connected with the affair be released in order that they may accompany their units to Camp Hancock.

The grounds of a dependent mother and father. The exemption board looked up his claim and refused it. So it appeared that the young man would be among the chosen few on September 19. He didn't like it. As a result the young man found a girl, popped the "big" question, married the maiden, and now in the shadow of her skirts is filing a claim for exemption on the grounds of a dependent wife.

The action on the claim will come up to-morrow at the meeting of the appeal board, and the outcome is dubious.

Husband of Woman Now Living Across River Is Perfect Man of Army

One of the proudest brides in the United States, is Mrs. Urban Heintzelman, whose husband is a soldier of Company B, First Pennsylvania Infantry, and rated as among the few absolutely perfect men in the Army.

Mrs. Heintzelman is living with Mrs. James Landis, of Wormleysburg, during the war. Heintzelman attracted a great deal of attention at the beginning of the war by passing a perfect physical examination. There have been a few others since then, but he was the first in any recruiting office.

The examiners in his case pronounced him 100 per cent. perfect. He explained that he was normal in every respect. He had been in the army five years previously and the training is believed to be responsible for his present wonderful condition.

Before her marriage Mrs. Heintzelman was Miss Meta M. A. Long, of near Allentown, a trained nurse. She wanted to go to France but her husband says one in the family is enough.

Shoemaker Sentenced to Eleven Months For Stealing $6,200 Roll

Giving a detailed story to Judge Kunkel of his life with a woman's wife during the last two years, and declaring that he must have stolen $6,200 from the Harrisburg Pipe and Pipe Bending Works on an impulse not knowing what he intended to do with it, Amos E. Shoemaker, billing clerk for the company for fourteen years, pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to eleven months in the Dauphin county jail.

Shoemaker, when questioned by the court told frankly all the particulars of his past life from the time he met the woman in the case. When asked why he did not return the stolen money instead of throwing it in the river, Shoemaker said he did not want to get rid of the money; it was getting my goat. I wasn't afraid of arrest but I was afraid of detection.

Among the witnesses were Shoemaker's father, who is an aged minister, and also his sister, W. P. Starkey, general superintendent of the Pipe Bending Company, testified as prosecutor, telling of the theft of the money July 19, the failure of detectives to learn who had stolen it, and the subsequent letter from Shoemaker while on his vacation, confessing to the robbery. Kunkel made no comment, directing the payment of a $5 fine, restoration of the stolen money or an equal amount and the jail sentence. Other sentences follow: William C. Schildt, $6 a week for maintenance of wife and two children; Harry Wells, larceny of auto tires, three months; Joseph Eckert, $5 a week for maintenance of wife, by agreement.

ARMY CHIEF HEADS GREAT NEW REVOLT

General Korniloff Ordered to Resign as Commander of Russian Field Forces as Result of His Effort to Overthrow Kerensky's Government; Petrograd Declared to Be in a State of War

Petrograd, Sept. 10.—Premier Kerensky has declared that a state of war exists in the town and district of Petrograd. Premier Kerensky has ordered General Korniloff, commander in chief of the Russian armies, to resign in consequence of General Korniloff's demand for supreme power. General Klembovsky has been appointed commander in chief.

Premier Kerensky has issued the following proclamation: "On September 8 a member of the Duma, M. Lvoff, arrived in Petrograd and called upon me in the name of General Korniloff to hand over all civil and military powers to the generalissimo, who would form a new government at his pleasure. The authenticity of this summons was afterwards confirmed by General Korniloff himself, who had a conversation with me over the direct telegraphic wire between Petrograd and main headquarters.

"Considering this summons addressed through me to the provisional government as an attempt by certain all attempts against the difficult situation of the country to establish a state of things contrary to the conquests of the revolution, the provisional government has recognized the necessity of changing me, for the safety of the republic regime, to take the urgent, indispensable measures necessary to cut at the roots all attempts against the supreme power and rights of the citizens won by the revolution.

Korniloff Out "I therefore, for the maintenance in the country of liberty and public order, am taking all measures which I shall announce at the proper moment to the people. At the same time I order General Korniloff to hand over his functions to General Klembovsky, commander-in-chief of the army on the northern front, which bar the way to Petrograd, and I order General Klembovsky to assume provisionally the functions of generalissimo, while remaining at Pskov.

"Secondly, I declare a state of war in the town and district of Petrograd. I appeal to all citizens to remain calm, maintain the order necessary for the welfare of the fatherland and the army and navy, and tranquilly and faithfully fulfill their duty in the defense of the fatherland against the foreign enemy."

Eleven cabinet ministers have been in consultation in the Winter Palace to-day considering measures to face General Korniloff's revolt which, in conversation with the Associated press correspondent the ministers admit is the gravest event since the revolution.

So far, except for the deposition of General Korniloff, which the general is apparently committed to defy, no measures have been decided upon, but the discussion is proceeding on [Continued on Page 9.]

TO PUNISH KORNILOFF
