> Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—Half a million dollars that Harvard, Yale and Westy Hogan Tourna- Princeton could coax from the sportcits in all three treasuries.

By the time football is once more restored to good standing among all the colleges, Harvard, Yale and Princeton, in common with the other fellows, will have sizable deficits to make up.

Separate Reccipts

They have always kept athletic receipts and academic receipts separate at these universities, possibly pecause the athletic income looked more attractive than the tultion credit, so it is not allowable to draw on the general treasury to make up athletic losses.

One good football season will therefore he required to put the Big Three on a firm financial basis again; just one seson. WHAT'LI THEY SAY?

When the stars of to-day are all finished And the cheers of the crowd seek the new, I'll be thinking of Tyrus the Terror And the stuff that he used to put through; As I turn to the fans all around me Loud boosting their present star host, Will they sneer in derision, I wonder, If I happen to mention the Ghost?

As they cheer for their own bally wonders, Will they call me a pink-eyed zob If I try to horn with some prattle Of that great Gray Phantom, Cobb?

Will they call me a mutt and a fogey, When I speak of the stars of to-day?

Will they call Cobb a busher compared to their own Hey—tell me—what'll they say?

Just as all is not gold that glitters, so all is not cinch that cinchers—but it is generally so.

There have been a few historic September upsets, but as a rule the ball club reaching September with a fair lead has managed to wiggle safely through and reach the mainland without disaster.

The most historic upset of them all was in 1908, when the Giants bad the pennant won, salted, bagged, cinched and put away—only to blow a set of important contests with the Reds and Phillies, then floundering in the depths.

But if you care to look back over the chart you will have generally come through. Very, very few ball clubs have enjoyed a September lead of any proportion to fall back later on.

There have been no vivid September upsets that we can recall since 1908. So, unless there is an explosion of unprecedented bulk, the Giants and White Sox will be the people. ame). Chicago, 6; Pittsburgh, 2. Brooklyn-New York—wet grounds. St. Louis-Cincinnati, wet grounds.

Rain put a crimp in the final baseball games scheduled for Saturday. Indications are that there will be no more games. Managers of the Firemen and Enginemen and Midway A. C., are anxious to keep going as long as weather permits and may play games on West End field.

The Army football squad is at work and with quite a number of stars in the line-up. The gridiron game will not be slow after all. Local teams get into the running to-day and it looks like a very good season.

The Sharden of the final base-by the final base-by the visitors in the second round.

Port Richmond leaders in the Philadelphia and Reading League pulled one over on Saturday, playing a postpone game with Reading Car Shops. The champs won and now have a record of fourteen victories and but one defeat. Harrisburg Division boys were unable to get a game week.

Among the passengers who arrived Saturday from France at an Attain Jeff Keyes, head coach, marshaled his forces and went through two drills on Plains gridiron. One hundred and fifty men turned out for the team. While the squad is not so large as in former years, the material looked good, and it is expected that the soldiers will be worthily represented on the chalk marked playsround when the opening whistle blows on September 29.

Oliphant, Shrader, Knight, Niles, Pulsifer, Stokes, Murrill, Wicks, March and Rundell were among the members of last year's squad who turned out.
