ORPHEUM To-night and Saturday matinee, September 14 and 15—"The White Feather."

COLONIAL To-day—Viola Dana in "The Girl Without a Soul."

RECENT To-day and to-morrow—George M. Cohan in "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

"The White Feather," the international successful war comedy which will be offered at the Orpheum to-night and to-morrow.

With the magic of spectacular New York and Chicago successes still strong upon it, "Fair and Warmer" will come to the Orpheum on Friday night only, September 21, when Selwyn and Company will present this most dazzling and ludicrous of farces, with an excellent cast of farces.

In "The Girl Without a Soul," the five-part Metro production starring Viola Dana at the Colonial Theatre to-day, this charming little play is a triumph of dramatic art.

The Majestic's headliner the last half of the week is Clark's Royal Hawaiian in a spectacular production entitled "Paradise Beach."

"Seven Keys to Baldpate," with George M. Cohan in the leading role, now showing at the Regent, is attracting a certain amount of attention to most readers of fiction, but if it isn't we can only say that the adventures of the writer of sensational fiction who goes to that homesick place on earth—a summer resort in winter—to win a letter from his owner by beginning a novel in the middle of a day and completing it that night, will keep you busy on the edge of your chair with excitement. This production remains at the Regent to-day and to-morrow.

The Old Fan's Wish Say Bill, if I but had my wish. It wouldn't be to swim or fish. Or grab a bale of coin or fame— But say, I'd love to lamp a game With them old Cubs back, if I could— I mean the ones now gone for good.

Old and New Giants An argument developed a day or two ago as to whether or not the present Giants were the strongest delegation New York ever had to enter for a world series engagement.

The 1917 Giants are undoubtedly a stronger world series array than the Giants of 1911, 1912 and 1913, who succumbed in succession to the Athletics and White Sox, losing three series in a row.

With Bresnahan back of the bat—with Matty and McGinty in the box—with McGinn, Gilbert, Dahlen and Devlin—with Mertes, Donlin and Brown—that lot to be the strongest array of them all.

But, with all this, there is nothing to make up for that ancient trio—Matty and McGinty pitching to Roger Bresnahan.

All-Stars and World Series "Did it ever occur to you," asks L. R. J., "that of the two world series clubs who will meet very few would be an all-American team?"

A Mark to Shoot At If the forthcoming Giants-Red Sox clash goes to seven games there is a healthy chance that the attendance and receipts record of 1912 will be broken.

The Giants—Red Sox went to eight games. For these eight games 251,901 people paid out $490,449 in admissions. The Polo Grounds can take care of 40,000 fans; Comiskey's park can handle 35,000. It would take seven games at an average of 36,000 to beat the 1912 mark.

As Hunches Go "Is this a hunch?" asks R. T. K. "The White Sox world series percentage in past years is 1,000; the Giants is .250. How about it?"

Nonpartisan Foil For Democratic Machine

"It is always the aim of those who would accomplish their own political purposes by misrepresenting the attitude of others," said an active political worker this morning, "to create an impression upon the public mind affecting the integrity of their political opponents. This is particularly true in the present primary contest in this city. Certain Democratic candidates representing the Democratic machine are endeavoring to make the voters believe that Ruth Anna Loudermilk, 422 Swatara street, several places to be filled on the nonpartisan ticket are those of the Democratic faith; that the Republicans are 'gangsters' and that the very foundations of the municipal temple will be shaken unless the particular individuals bearing the O. K. of the Democratic machine are chosen.

"I am a Republican," said the same indignant worker, "and I don't care who knows it. It only makes me indignant when I observe the insincere tactics of the other side. Nonpartisan is all right, perhaps, when it is actually carried into practice, but when it is simply used as a shield for certain Democratic politicians, it is a far-distant nonpartisan bait. I have no doubt that many Republicans would give earnest support to a fair-day nonpartisan ticket, but when the Democratic machine attempts to bamboozle innocent voters by attacking Republicans in the interest of Democratic candidates, they are bound to fail in their purpose."

Campaign to Raise Funds For Books For Soldiers Starts Soon

The meeting that was to be held at the Harrisburg Public Library yesterday afternoon in regard to the funds and books to be given to the boys in camp, was postponed until early next week.

Episcopalians to Raise Half Million For War

Washington, Sept. 14. — Prelates of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, gathered here to organize the war commission of the church, to-day decided to raise $500,000; to send a bishop to Europe at once to look after Episcopalians in the trenches and camps, and created an executive committee of clergymen and laymen to carry out the plans.

Bumper War Garden Crops That the wargarden propaganda so tirelessly conducted by food economists throughout the country has resulted in increased crops is borne out by tentative surveys which have already been made in a number of places, according to experts at the Pennsylvania State College. They report on lots not previously used for garden crops at State College.

There were 123 lots planted in potatoes, seven in beans, thirty-five in sweet corn, six lots in cabbage and seven in mixed plantings. The estimated yields of these lots are: 3,700 bushels of potatoes, thirty bushels of beans (shelled), 6,800 dozen ears of sweet corn and fifteen tons of cabbage. At $1.50 a bushel for potatoes, $9 a bushel for beans, 25 cents a dozen for sweet corn and $20 a ton for cabbage and valuing the mixed plants at $200, the total value of these crops is estimated at $7,850. This survey represented no home gardens nor land that has been used for gardens in previous years.

Observe Birth of Star Spangled Banner

While there was no formal observance of the birthday of the "Star Spangled Banner," in practically every schoolroom in the city teachers called the attention of the pupils to the writing of the national song by Francis Scott Key, September 14, 1813, at Fort Mifflin. A short time was devoted in some of the rooms to a discussion of patriotic events in the nation's history and some of the teachers gave short talks on the respect and tribute to be paid to the flag.

CUT ARM INFECTED Mrs. Moses Munford, colored, 1915 Logan street, suffered a peculiar accident last Saturday, when she cut her arm while polishing a water faucet. A few days ago the arm gave her trouble, and she was brought to the Harrisburg Hospital last night. She is suffering with blood poisoning, and her condition is serious.
