WHARTONSMOKER WELL ATTENDED

Effort Made to Retain High Standing Though Ranks Are Depleted by War

Last night alumni, students and prospective students in large numbers attended a get-together smoker at the Wharton Study Club, 213 Walnut street, given by Professor Thomas A. Bartley, of the University of Pennsylvania faculty to those interested in the local extension school.

In addition to Professor Bartley, those who made addresses were Professor George A. McFarland, instructor in accounting, and secretary of the evening school department of the university, and Theodore J. Grayson, instructor in finance and attorney of the New Jersey Public Service Commission. All the speakers dwelt especially on the relation of education to the war, pointing out the imperative need for technically trained men both in engineering and commercial lines that the nation may put forth its maximum effort both to win the war and to maintain its commercial supremacy at the close of the war.

Plans were perfected during the evening for the front rank of the alumni will aid Professor Bartley in his efforts to enroll a representative class this fall. So many of the members of the extension school have enlisted in the military and naval services that extra effort will have to be put forth this year to keep the Chamber of Commerce in the Dr. Philip building from Monday to Friday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock to enroll students and to receive reports from the students who are helping him in the work. For the first week which closed last night satisfactory progress was made, practically all of last year's first and one-year classes who have not joined the Army or Navy, registering for the third year's work, and a number of new students were enrolled for the present year.

During the next two weeks Mr. Bartley will be at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce in the Dr. Philip building from Monday to Friday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock to enroll students and to receive reports from the students who are helping him in the work. For the first week which closed last night satisfactory progress was made, practically all of last year's first and one-year classes who have not joined the Army or Navy, registering for the third year's work, and a number of new students were enrolled for the present year.

Miss Helen Dull Oenslager Becomes Bride of Frank Townsen Spooner

The wedding of Miss Helen Dull Oenslager, eldest daughter of Mr. Frank Oenslager, of 3219 Riverside, and Frank Townsen Spooner, son of Mrs. William H. Spooner, 117 Locust street, will take place this evening at 6 o'clock at the Oenslager residence. The marriage will be performed in the large living room, attractively decorated with large baskets of flowers and ferns, and various masses of palms, gladiolas, and various colored asters arranged to form a chancel, for the bride party, where Dr. Lewis Seymour Mudge, of the Pine Street, Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Frank A. McCarrell, organist of the Pine Street Church, will play the wedding music, using Wagner's "Lohengrin," and the Wedding March from Midsummer Night's Dream, by Mendelssohn, and "O Promise Me" during the service. The bride who will be given in marriage by her father will wear a gown of ivory satin, trimmed with a court train caught on either side of the high waisted bodice with medallions of pearls, Pearl garnitures will gather her tulle veil and she will carry a French mignon bouquet of orchids and the trench flower.

Miss Harriet Oenslager will be maid of honor for her sister. She will wear a charming gown of pink tulle and silver lace. Her arm bouquet will be of snapdragons, marchion roses and larkspur. Albert Poole Spooner, of Lancaster, a brother of the bridegroom will act as best man. Little Miss Elsie Stauffer, of Lancaster, who will be the flower girl, will wear a dainty lilac dress of white and carry a silver basket.

A dinner will follow the ceremony for the families of the bride and groom and a few of the more personal friends. The dinner appointments will be in pink and a huge basket of asters and ferns will make a lovely arrangement for the bride table.

Following an eastern wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Spooner will reside at 1517 West North street, Bethlehem, Pa., where they will be "at home" to their friends after October 1. The bride received her education at the Seiler School, this city, completing her studies at Miss Goddard's School, Walcott, Aurora-On-Cayuga, N. Y.

Mr. Spooner is a graduate of the Mercersburg Academy and of Lehigh University. He is now connected with the Bethlehem Steel Company at Bethlehem, Pa.
