

FIRST DRAFTERS SAFE IN CAMP

Elizabethtown Men Reach Great Cantonment For War Training

Admiral, Md., Sept. 20.—The first contingent of Pennsylvania draftees arrived at Camp Meade at 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and were glad to hit their downy cots in search of "tired nature's sweet repose" last night, for the day was a strenuous one.

All along the way, from Harrisburg to Baltimore, thousands of persons were gathered to wave and call good-by to the boys from Elizabethtown, Millersburg, Lykens, Hallfax, Williamsport and surrounding territory. The train which brought the Dauphin county men also carried contingents from the counties of Northumberland, Clinton, Luzerne and Lycoming.

Early arrivals greeted the Dauphin county boys with hearty cheers, as the sixty men from this section entered the cantonment singing popular songs.

Within a half hour of their arrival at Camp Meade, the men were assigned to their quarters. Almost before the boys had time to remove the signs of travel the mess call was given.

Major General Kuhn, commander of the camp, paid this sterling tribute to the Pennsylvanians:

"I was more than pleased with these men. It was very gratifying. Not only was I greatly impressed with their physical appearance, but their cheerful nature and good disposition also were splendid to see. The machinery worked satisfactorily and smoothly. There were no hitches, so far as I could observe."

So far as the military end of it was concerned, the whole matter was an entire success. But the spirit of the men was the thing that left the most lasting impression. They are just the type that makes a nation a fighting soldier and the entire day has been a revelation and a pleasure

Wilson College Opens With Increased Enrollment

Wilson College began its forty-eighth year this morning with a large increase in its enrollment. A considerable number of students are registered from Harrisburg and vicinity.

The chief new appointments in the faculty are: Professor Rudolf Wee-time, professor of music and head of the music department; Miss Pauline Bachman, professor of voice, and Miss Jennie M. Steviger, professor of Bible.

Excitement Too Much For Aged Spectator

Becoming excited over the demonstration this morning, Harry D. Musser, 89, West Fairview, fell to the pavement in Market Square. He was taken into a store where he regained consciousness shortly afterward. He was taken to the Harrisburg Hospital where his condition was reported fairly good this afternoon. Physicians say Mr. Musser was overcome by heat and excitement.
