FOR LIBRARIES IN SOLDIER CAMPS

City Starts Its Share of Million Dollar Fund to be Used For Troops

The drive for $100,000 to be raised throughout the United States with which to buy books for the soldiers and sailors started to-day. The idea originated with President Milson and has received the co-operation of the library officials and State officials throughout the country. To do her share Harrisburg must raise $6,000 for this fund, which is known as the Library War Service Fund.

Miss Alice Eaton, librarian of the Harrisburg Public Library, suggests that in order that the quota set for Harrisburg will be sure of being reached, that all citizens of Harrisburg who can afford to do so, subscribe a dollar for themselves and as many dollars more as they have neighbors who cannot afford to subscribe. The very first real money received, this morning was from a man who sent in a dollar each for himself, his wife, and one for each of his three children. He is too modest to give his name.

Miss Eaton has charge of the campaign for the central part of Pennsylvania and in each county of her territory has appointed charmen who in turn have appointed subchairmen in the boroughs of their territory has appointed charmen who in turn have appointed subchairmen in the boroughs of their carried the list to lower laveing. Miss Eaton has charge of the campaign for the central part of Pennsylvania and in each county of her territory has appointed chairmen who in turn have appointed subchairmen in the boroughs of their counties to conduct the campaign. The slogan for the campaign is "A Dollar For a Book For a Soldier." One dollar will buy a good book which will be placed within reach of soldiers and sailors in the canton ments and training camps in America as well as on the transport ships and in France.

The clubs of Harrisburg have pledged their support and the representatives of the various clubs who are co-operating are: David E. Tracy, Chamber of Commerce; A. E. Buchanan, Rotary Club; Robert M.
