Canned tomato sauce is a tasty relish to use for seasoning meats, says to-day's bulletin of the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, which is offering $5,000 in prizes for the best canned vegetables.

In making tomato sauce cut the tomatoes into fairly small pieces and add one large-sized onion chopped and one cup chopped sweet red pepper to one gallon of tomatoes. Cook until tender. Put through a sieve and add a mixture of one-third salt and two-third sugar in proportion to one teaspoonful to each quart of the mixture. Cook smill the consistency of the ketchup, stirring constantly. Pack hot into sterilized jars or bottles. Adjust rubber and cap; place the container on false bottom in a vessel of water sufficiently deep to reach almost to their tops and allow to remain at a boiling temperature for 25 minutes. Remove jars from the water bath and tighten the lids immediately.

Water used for home canning should be pure, soft and as free from sediment and excessive mineral content as possible. Clear drinking water is generally usable. Softening, hardening or discoloration of vegetables because of the character of the water is an exception to the rule in home canning.

Most vegetables as well as meats are injured in flavor and quality by an excessive use of salt for seasoning in the canning process. A little salt is very palatable, and its use should be encouraged, but it is better to add no salt in canning than to use too much. It can be added to suit the taste when canned goods are served.
