To Go Elsewhere.—The officers of the Quartermasters' Corps of the National Guard who have been engaged at the State Arsenal in this city for weeks have about completed transferring the remaining stores and equipment to federal authorities and will shortly be assigned to other points in United States service. The Quartermasters' Corps was called into service soon after the outbreak of war and mobilized at the arsenal where it handled the care of the men until they went into federal service early in August. Pests Loom Up—Renewed warning against appearance of insect pests dangerous to farm and fruit crops are being given by State Department of Agriculture officials who have called attention to the fact that because so many people unaccustomed to gardening are cultivating land this year that they will unwittingly allow pests to spread this fall. Next year will be a bad year for pests it is declared.

CHOOSE MEN WHO GO

Saturday morning there will remain the Paxtang district to fill its entire quota. If the Steelton board sends twenty-four men, there will remain only 107, more to go. The Steelton board has issued a call for 100 more men, and these will be examined next Thursday. The list of the men who will leave from the Steelton district Saturday is as follows:

the colored men that have been certified for service. These men have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to leave at any moment, but so far the War Department has not made any provisions for their leaving. The Paxtang board will continue examinations on Monday and will finish the remainder of the 300 that were called on the last call.

Son Packs Jewels Away: Parents Blamed Thief

When Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Shell moved to 609 North Fifteenth street, this week, they missed several articles of value. Complaint was made to the police department, one of the men who had assisted in moving the household goods being suspected of theft. Yesterday afternoon, all of the missing articles, including jewelry, a manicure set and a purse containing $10, was found in a shirtwaist box belonging to Mrs. Shell.

In the excitement which ensued, the three-year-old son of the home told how he had been playing store on Tuesday, and had gathered up the missing articles as his stock in trade, while alone in a bedroom.
