Wormleysburg Boy Writes Letter Home From France

Wormleysburg, Pa., Oct. 1.—G. A. Donbaugh, now in France with Company D, First Telephone Battalion, American Expeditionary Forces, writes his parents here telling of the conditions existing there.

"Dear Mother and Dad: Arrived in France all right and we all have food to eat, so there is no kick about anything. How is Dad working? Tell him to take care of the chickens and don't kill any of the roosters. We have a nice camp here and got a Y. M. C. A. and can buy candy and tobacco. The weather is fine here. Just about the same as at home. I can't tell you much, as we are not allowed to say much. My address is G. A. Donbaugh, Company D, First Telephone Battalion, American Expeditionary Forces, France, via New York."

"How are you and are you all well and tell Dad not to work too hard and put my money in the bank. If you need some, why that will be all right. I will be back someday and then I will tell you all about it. Good-by and take good care of yourself. "GEORGE."

LATE NEWS FROM THE CUMBERLAND VALLEY

SOLDIERS MAKE SECOND ESCAPE

Captured at Carlisle After First Flight From Jail, Again Get Away

Gettysburg, Pa., Oct. 1.—In jail four days, out for two days, back to the camp here and had been placed in the prison—Forbes on the charge of taking a suit of clothes from the tailoring establishment of Rogers, Martin and Company. Last Sunday morning they escaped by sawing the bars from the window of their cell and crawling through and two days later were captured at Carlisle. A detail of soldiers was sent to the Cumberland county town to bring them back and when they reached Biglerville they were ordered to get out of the automobile and go on foot to Gettysburg. They were taken back double-time it for nearly the whole seven miles between the two towns. When they reached the prison Forbes was placed in the granite cell in order that he could be kept securely. During Saturday last he picked the lock of the door and got out into the corridor. Going over to the sleeping turkeys he relieved him of the keys and twelve dollars in cash. He then went to the cell of Straub and released him. Both men attired themselves in the clothes of the other prisoners hanging on hooks in an outer room, and leaving their soldier clothing behind, with the exception of their shoes, they went through the door to freedom.

MANY CASES AT CARLISLE COURT

Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 1.—Important cases are listed for trial at the session of criminal court which opened here today. In all, twenty-five hearings are down and decision will come at the same time on the Camp Hill annexation project.

Leading the list are the false pretense charges against John C. Gill, a Harrisburg real estate man. There will be two unique cases, also, John Bailey and Clarence Brown being charged with jail-breaking. Brown dug a hole in the jail wall, which almost resulted in the freeing of prisoners. There are two additional charges against Bailey. He is a member of the famous Cockley gang, one of whom, Eddie Morris, has just been taken to the penitentiary for a twenty-seven-year sentence. H. N. Morrow, a New Kingston blacksmith, is charged with trying to burn a building. Henry Halleman, of Camp Hill, is up on charges of larceny, and two cases of cruelty to animals with minor charges of assault will also feature.

Shell's Schleisner Stores 28-30-32 N. 3rd St.

The Trousseau Schleisner completeness of detail in apparel is prominently noted in The Trousseau. Whilst the bride might perhaps not know exactly what garments she desires to choose, Schleisner's will assist her in choosing what is absolutely correct and best for her requirements. The supreme satisfaction of having had the right trousseau will always be more and more appreciated because it came from Schleisner's. Our unceasing interest and efforts for our clientele have placed the Schleisner Stores directly in the forefront of fashion discerners. The bride will have at Schleisner's the opportunity to select her complete trousseau — with every detail correct. We take unusual credit for being the only place in this section of Pennsylvania where this is possible—and where only the distinctive is desired. And for the young girl who is going away for the winter months — Schleisner apparel — whether for street or function wear—fills her needs in every way.
