

TESTS SHOW TWENTY MILK SAMPLES BAD

Only Eight Found Free of Contagious Diseases; Ice Cream Tested

Only eight of the twenty-eight tests of milk sold by city dealers during September contained no contagious disease germs, according to the report of the food inspection bureau of the city health department. All the samples met the requirements for butter fat.

Of the ice cream samples seven of eighteen contained disease germs in quantities ranging from 200 to 25,000 a cubic centimeter, or about sixteen drops.

Milk dealers whose samples contained disease germs according to the report follow: G. W. Attkin, 2,100 per cubic centimeter; C. P. Chapman, 1,300; C. H. Erford, 10,000; C. A. Hoak, 2,400 and 700, two tests; R. D. Heller, 200; J. S. Kramer, 500; J. E. Mumma, 400; C. Ott, by request, 4,800; Pennsylvania Milk Products Company, 4,600 and 500; Joseph A. Wolf, 700.

Ice cream samples containing disease germs are reported by the department as follows: A. Ammler, 5,400; C. Dettling, 1,600; Samuel Ferraro, 8,000; Hershey Creamery Company, 7,500; Logan Med. Company, 600; John A. Rose, 200; C. R. Wolfe, 25,000.

WORDS, MASTERS OF OUR ACTIONS

Importance of Speech Declared to Be as Great as That of Ideas

"Words are women, deeds are men," wrote George Herbert in the early sixteen hundreds. "Actions speak louder than words," runs an old proverb. Democritus said, "words are but the shadows of actions." These are only half-truths, however. They might just as well be reversed. There can be no action without a thought behind it. But you can't voice a thought without words. Words are the tools of thought, the weapons of the intellect. Word-wisdom is thought-wisdom. Deep thoughts require deep words. This proves that words are the masters of all action—of all conduct.

The thought, through the word precedes the deed, guides it, controls it. Words are just as important as ideas. Thought without adequate expression is void and empty. How beautifully the Scriptures express this in Genesis: "And God said, 'Let there be light and light was made.' And God said, 'Let there be a firmament * * * let the waters that are under the heaven be gathered together * * * let the earth bring forth the green herb * * * let there be lights made in the firmament.'" In fact, the words of the Bible were His very act of creation. This has a marvelous significance, once one stops to think of it. If words, therefore, play so important a part in thought and action, why is it that people in every-day life do not cultivate the use of words? Word-study would certainly get word-wisdom, thought-power, deed-energy. A dictionary should be a daily companion. Within reach every hour of the twenty-four, frequent consultation would produce surprising results in a short time. We feel sure that our offer of The New Universities Dictionary will be of lasting benefit to our readers. We know of nothing that could be more welcome at the same time in office, school, home, shop and study. A copy in today's paper explains terms.

Previous to that time he had been employed at Boston, Albany, N. Y., and elsewhere, and was to have taken a position under the Government at Washington.

LOCAL LECTURER P. R. R. POLICE DEPARTMENT INSTALLS NEW OFFICES; TAKES UP ENTIRE FLOOR

In His Talk on "Giants of World Drives Home Truths"

"Lead clean lives and help to establish God's Kingdom on Earth," was the keynote of an interesting and timely lecture last night. The lecturer was Boyd S. Fowler, a well-known Pennsylvania railroad conductor, who talked to an audience that filled the main auditorium of Camp Curtin Memorial M. E. Church. He drove home in a convincing manner the necessity for combating existing economic evils, and referred to "The Giants of the World," the title of his lecture, as including cold, hunger, want and greed. He made a strong appeal for Christianity.

Many Word Pictures His discourse was interspersed with many word pictures by which the lecturer drove home his many truths. Mr. Fowler is of the people and his line of argument last night contained much that is good and the uplifting and uplifting of character. His appeal to men and women to give God a chance in their lives was especially effective. There were many visibly affected by his strong appeal to them to lead clean lives, and by so doing help in the establishment of God's Kingdom on earth.

In Great Demand He has an invitation to deliver his lecture before one of the largest Bible classes in the city, and has been booked for lectures at Coatesville for the Lukens Steel and Iron Company, and at the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. at Pottsville.

An added feature last night was a highly pleasing concert by the Trainmen's band under the direction of W. F. Engle. The selections included sacred music. This organization is quite popular in concert work and will also be active during the winter.

has a cozy room at the head of the stairs. He and Alfred Roat will be found on duty here and to them you must go to get to any other department. All records will be kept showing where officers are located and what special duty they are on. Next in line is Chief Clerk Finerbrook. He has a big room. It is necessary as there is considerable business transacted in one day in the chief clerks' department. New desks and furniture have been added and fireproof cases provided for keeping records and files. Captains Private Office Last, but not least, is the private office of Captain Paul L. Barclay. It is the rear room on the third floor, well lighted and large enough to take care of hearings and special investigations. It overlooks the entrance to the Pennsylvania railroad station. Up to date furnishings make it a cozy and attractive office. In this room is kept the arsenal and other material taken from prisoners and valuables found on trains and turned over to Captain Barclay to find the owner. An idea of the territory covered by Captain Barclay may be obtained in the statement that he covers nine counties, Dauphin, Perry, Cumberland, Lancaster, Chester, York, Montgomery, Bucks and Delaware. He has a force of 132 men under him, including watchmen. Three hundred men are taken from prisoners to trips over his division. He is on duty early and late, and has a record for having an efficient force unequalled on the main line of the Pennsy.

Officers Have Room The big room formerly used by Chief Clerk H. J. Finerbrook and his assistants, has been fitted up for the officers. Adjoining was the lieutenant's room, now the locker and rest room for the officers. It has been fitted up with all conveniences and will soon present a cozy appearance after rugs are down and chairs provided. Lieutenant Edward J. Cranford arrested five employes, and committed them to jail for a hearing at Lebanon. The quintet arrested included John Walborn, Peter Peiffer, William Sharp, Harry Sharp and Geary Wolfe. The first named boarded the other four men at his home in Lebanon, and Captain Booser claims to have recovered a considerable portion of the stolen goods at the Walborn home.

For some time valuable goods have been reported missing at the Philadelphia and Reading warehouse at Lebanon. Caps, shoes, cigars and numerous other articles were found at the Walborn home.

Look at tongue! If feverish, bilious, constipated, take no chances.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "resides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy. Mother! A little given to-day saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine.
