week, however, it will be impossible to accept further registration.

Many Women Enrolled

A feature this year is the number of women who have registered for the three-year course. The privilege is given to women in any of the extension cities to take the work on the same footing as men which is not possible in Philadelphia, the Wharton school there being one of the few departments of the University which is not coeducational.

A'very large number of last year's graduating class will also be present again this year, almost half of the graduates who are not in the Armystaving registered for the special postgraduate course in auditing and investments.

Any person who is interested in the work of the school is cordially invited, to attend the classes on Monday evening. In this way they will be accorded an excellent opportunity of seeing the school at work.

An Extraordinary Linen Sale

Bleachers' and Weavers' Table Linen Damages

First of Their Kind in Several Years

Fall replenishing of Linen Closets always develops multitudes of needs, and housewives who make a study of economy have for years depended upon our half-yearly sales of bleachers' and weavers' damages.

But the ramifications of war long ago put a stop to these exceptional linen gatherings, and not until several months ago did we have a hope that we could offer another Bleachers' Sale while the war lasted.

Our office at Manchester, England, by some extraordinary stroke of good luck, secured several hundred Damages from Scotland and Ireland. The shipment escaped the submarine menace and it was landed several weeks ago in our warehouse here.

Details only hint at the scope of this unusual sale. Table tops and breakfast cloths, 36 inches to 64
