GODCHARLES IS SHOOT WINNER

Takes First Honors in Complimentary Event at Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—The shoot of the Independent Gun Club, held at Holmesburg Junction yesterday, took on the phase of the play of Hamlet without the melancholy Dane. The shoot was a special affair, tendered as a compliment to Fred. Stone, the comedian, who is an expert wing shot, and who has a host of friends among the trapshooting fraternity.

The shoot was divided into four events at twenty-five targets each. The best score of the day was made by Slear, the Collingswood, N. J. expert, who grassed ninety-four of his 100 birds. He got twenty-four the first time up. In the next two events he lost two birds each time, but coming back for his final he got them all but one. Slear, being a professional, did not count in any of the prizes offered. F. A. Godcharles, of Harrisburg, made the best score of the day among the amateurs, coming within one bird of Slears' record. He only broke twenty-four each time. Galvin, the Wilmington professional, equaled Mr. Godcharles' score of ninety-three. He broke them in the following order. Twenty-two, twenty-four, twenty-four, twenty-four, twenty-three, Lodge was the second best of the amateurs, getting ninety-two for his total.

Bacelli Scores New World's Trot Mark;
Wins Large Stakes

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 10.—Four good races were decided at the Grand Circuit meeting here yesterday, the 2.08 trot, won by Bacelli, being the most hotly contested and decidedly the best race on the card. It took six heats for Bacelli to win, but in sodoing the world's record for a six-heat race made last week by Ima Jay, in the Transylvania, was broken. The 2.06 pace also took six hard heats before Helen Chimes was proclaimed winner. The $5.000 dinner stakes and $2,000 Cumberland were easy for Miss Bertha Dillon and Little Frank

In the final Peter Nash this time finishing second. In the final heat, in which there but Helen Chimes and Young Todd, the mare beat him back in the section.

A. B. Coxe won the section.

Little Frank D. was ahandy winner of the 2.65 Cumberland event. The Savoy, from the St. Louis Nationals, winner of the St. Louis city series, will distribute $2.361—less than $100 to a player. The St. Louis characteristic for the seven games played on five days were $7, 567, of this $756 goes to the National Commission, and $2.876 is divided among the two clubs.

before Helen Chimes was proclaimed winner. The $5,000 dinner stakes and $2,000 Cumberland were easy for Miss Bertha Dillon and Little Frank Di., respectively.

The 2.08 trot came first on the card. The veteran Ross B, won thirst two heats in 2.05 1.4 and 2.05 ½ and then Murphy won a heat with Peter Chenault. Bacelli, after being way back the first two heats third round and was a close second to Peter Chenault. Bacelli then won the final three heats without being fully extended, the six heats constituting a new world's record for a six-heat race.

The 2.06 pace was bitterly fought, Young Todd taking the opening heat from Barlight, in 2.05 1.4. The second went to Helen Chimes an outsider in the betting, in 2.04 3-4, while Peter Nash came along to win third in still faster time, 2.04½-Young Todd then took the fourth and seemed a certain winner, but Helen Chimes beat him back in the fifth, Peter Nash this time finishing second. In the final Peter Nash this for the game with Wilkes-Barre.

Four men who played in Central High's backfield in the game with Johnstown on Saturday will in all probability play the same positions the remainder of the season. So far this is Coach Smith's best combination. "Bill" Rodgers, Blair Smith and "Buzz" Wingeard are each try-close duel on the range.

Felsch belongs to the type that one or two hard plays are sufficient to show his caliber. It isn't the fact that he makes them—but the ease and dash with which he tackles the assignment.

GRIFF'S PICK

"I've seen a lot of stuff," announces Clark Griffith, "as to whether Zimserman, Groh or Vitt was the best third baseman of the year. The answer is another name. Buck Weaver is the greatest third baseman I ever saw. He is a fine shortstop, but a finer third baseman, where I have seen him make plays that I don't believe Collins, Bradley or Devlin could make. You know how fast Cobb is. Well, Weaver can boot one on Cobb, kick it fifteen feet and still nail Ty at first by a full stride. He has made more impossible plays this year than I have ever seen made by one man, I know this other bunch is good, but my vote goes to Weaver."

THE WORLD'S SERIES TYPE

Buck Herzog is one of the few great ball players in history who can bat .225, make his share of bobbles and still be a star. Johnny Evers was another of the same mould. Any entry can be a star who bats .330 and fields with but few laws. But it takes a marvel to be a star under .240 fields with but few laws. But it takes a marvel to be a star under .240 at bat.

Herzog despite an all summer's illness, proved this in the first game. He had only four chances, but three of them were tough, and all three were of widely different types. At one stage he had to romp into center and take a ball over his shoulder, with a run coming in from third. At another stage he knocked down a bit in short right, dropped the ball and then, with his back to first, wheeled for a perfect peg. On still another occasion he had to take a fairly wide throw from Lew McCarty with McMullin sliding in. He rode McMullin into the bag and took the ball enroute.

Herzog hasn't had the physical strength this season to hold his top pace, but in any big series he was always at his best. If every ball club had nine men of the Herzog type out there fighting and hustling every day every ball park in the country would be packed to the gunwales.

CICOTTE'S "RISE BALL"

Nunamaker was discussing Cicotte's pitching a few days before

Lestie Nunamaker was discussing Cleottes pitching a few days below the series.

"He's the only pitcher I ever saw,' remarked Nunny, "who can make that pill rise as it sails into the plate. I've read about the rise ball in Frank Merriwell fiction, but this is the first time I ever saw it."

The theory was borne out in Cicotte's first game. No less than fifteen Glants went out on the sky route. They were constantly hitting under the ball and popping it up. One of them remarked after the game that the ball seemed to lift an inch or two just before reaching the plate, the lift coming too late for the bat or the swing to be adjusted to the new range. Only three directions before have been open to most pitchers. Down, out and in. With the fourth direction covered, the baffled batsman is up against it to a finish.

GREAT CROWD BRAVES COLD TO SEE GAME

25,000 persons, will hold a capacity crowd. Despite last night's rain and the cold, penetrating northeast wind, many fans turned out again during the night and waited for the opening of the ball park gates. The crowd began to grow with the first streaks of dawn and when the gates to the two-dollar unreserved seats in the lower grandstand and to the dollar bleacher seats were opened in the lower grandstand and to the dollar bleacher seats were opened world's series throngs of other years. Field Is Dry

Early reports from the ground-keepers assured the management of the New York Club that if no more rain fell the diamond would be in good condition. The infield was covered when yesterday's rain began, and is dry and fairly fast. The outfield, however, is somewhat heavy but not too soft to make an appreciable difference to the fielders. The four umpires made a trip to the Polo grounds early for the purpose of reporting to the National Commission.

of reporting to the National Commission.

Betting on the result of the series has not undergone any change. Two to one and three to one that the American League pennant winners would take the series were the prevailing odds with not many takers. There appeared to be more wagering on the result of to-day's game than on the outcome of the series, even money being offered by both sides. New Yorkers covered the money offered by enthusiastic Chicago rooters that the Sox would take four straight.

confident his men will win in four straight.

McGraw, of the Giants, has little to say regarding the situation. He told frieads that he is still hopeful that his men will show their true form and even up the series.

Many guesses are being made on the pitching possibilities for the third game. Yesterday it was expected that Cicotte would again oppose Sallee, but with the rest that Schupp has obtained there is a possibility that he may be sent to the mound. The general opinion, however, is that it will be Cleotte against Sallee. Unless there is another upset in the schedule the two teams will play there to-morrow. In the event New it York wins at least one game here the teams will travel west on Friday, and but the feth general the communication.
