U. S. NAVY AIDS GREATLY IN HUNTING U-BOATS AND PROTECTING SHIPS AT SEA

Base of American Flotilla in British Waters, Oct. 17.—In the five months of active service that they have seen in the great war the American destroyers have steamed collectively a total distance of 875,000 miles.

Roughly the destroyers have spent five-eighths of their time at sea and their average time in port has been three days after each turn of five or six outside.

Clear weather and long days have favored them and aided the men in learning the technique of their business of combating the submarines, conveying troop ships and merchantmen, patrolling the shipping routes and rescuing survivors from torpedoed ships.

The Americans, therefore, can claim no small part of the credit for the gradual decrease in shipping losses. First of all the addition of their units to the allied forces, patrolling as they do an area as large as that bounded roughly by the great V formed by New York, Detroit and Knoxville, as certain to make life less comfortable for the U-boats.

Next the Americans applied all the tactics of the long-experienced British and in some instances improved on them. All destroyers added to their equipment depth charges and other devices. Then the crews learned some more about the business of sinking a merchant fleet.

New ideas also have been and are constantly being worked out with a view to rendering the work of the submarine increasingly difficult.

Filled with enthusiasm over each new experience had with the enemy the Americans are not slow to apply a more effective method of dealing with him the next time he shows his head above water.

Many new ideas gained from observations made in this anti-submarine game. Still others have suggested changes in gun firing in fact something new, although not always practicable, is being worked out all the time.

The period of active service over here each destroyer has taken many turns at patrol duty. This means five or six days away from port in various kinds of weather when the routine is "eat, sleep, stand watch and get seasick."

Occasionally this routine is broken by the call to general quarters usually caused by the presence of a U-boat or crew of a torpedoed ship.

Every destroyer has to its credit at least one encounter with a submarine, while some of the more fortunate have stalked two or three underwater craft. At no time, however, have the submarines shown fight. They always avoid a meeting.

Has Life Passed You By? TECH SENIORS DELIVER TALKS

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Suppose you found yourself shipwrecked on a desert island—would you sit still and fold your hands, expecting rain water to drop on your parched tongue and luscious tropical fruits to come tumbling into your lap?

How absurd all that sounds! Well, suppose you find yourself marooned in a tiny country village or lost in the great big desert of life in a city—are you going to whimper because you don't know people and complain because your salary won't buy you the things you want and make yourself miserable over the conditions in your boardinghouse, or are you going to do something about it all?

Before I go further let me explain to my readers—shrinking from anything ugly and cheap and common. And with this in view I am going to suggest that rigid, hard and fast business conventions are really not important when you are starving and thirsting for love and happiness.

Efficiency and self-control and calm judgment are—and always will be—of prime importance. If you are sixteen and "crazy about a good time," I am not talking to you, young woman, but must learn a few useful things. You must build your house of life. Study—you need education and culture.

During the last summer 18,434 little tots, crippled, old folks and sick people enjoyed rides in the Boyer Joy Rides. Most of the outings were taken to Paxtang and Reservoir Parks.

When the various parades were held in the city hundreds of children from Steelton were brought to the city in the car to see the sights. Not only were the children of Steelton, but also the children of other parts of the city.

The State Workmen's Insurance Fund Board has authorized an investment of $1,000,000 in the Liberty Loan. This investment of the state fund is made from accumulated surplus of the current business.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Minister Morris, at Stockholm, cabled the State Department to-day news of the arrival there of Willot Charles Smith, a German interment camp at Kiel and brought word that American prisoners in Germany would starve if not freed from the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A.

Smith was a horseman on the British steamship Esmeralda, captured by the German raider Moewe, and was carried into Germany just before the United States broke diplomatic relations. No details concerning his escape were given.

The average yield per acre, of potatoes for the past ten years, in Pennsylvania is only about $5 bushels. This is due to several factors according to authorities at the Pennsylvania State College, one of which is the common practice of stock.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of flaxseed oil and mix it with a little liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the fingers.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better than it does now.

Chief of Police Wetzel favors an addition to the traffic rules of the city which will require all persons who have vehicle accidents on city streets to report the particulars promptly to the police department.

Storing Celery. Celery may be stored for the winter in a number of ways but all successful methods must provide the following conditions:

- (1) A low temperature—the nearer the freezing point the better, provided it does not go below. (2) Moisture—especially at the roots, to maintain a crisp, turgid condition in the plant. It is practically impossible to revive wilted celery. (3) More or less ventilation—according to the quantity of celery stored in bulk.

Celery should be banked in the row with earth for several weeks preparatory to storing. Banking may be started early in September and the earth gradually worked up to the plants to induce a compact upright growth and also to begin the blanching process.

Gov. Knits Socks. Biloxi, Miss.—Governor Bilbo, of Mississippi, whose grandfather taught him how to knit, spends an hour the month of November, but November 5 to 15 is usually the best time, except in the southeastern corner of the state, where a few days later is generally better. A temperature which freezes the surface of the ground will not injure celery provided the plants are not handled until well thawed out.

Testifies For Benefit Of Suffering Humanity

Personal Experience Proves Real Value of Remedy for Stomach Trouble

Having witnessed the effectiveness of Fruitola and Traxo in relieving his wife of a severe attack of gall stones, after the doctors had failed and declared nothing but an operation would help, Mr. W. C. Dillehay, 511 Morton St., Nashville, Tenn., felt impelled to publish his testimony in order that others who suffered from stomach trouble might be induced to at least try this treatment.

In an unsolicited statement to the Pinus laboratories Mr. Dillehay says: "After the doctors told me that an operation was the only thing that could relieve my wife's condition, I heard of Fruitola and tried it as a last resort. I am thankful to say that Fruitola is by no means necessary, and hope this wonderful remedy can be made known to all suffering humanity."

Fruitola and Traxo are compounded from the original Eadsall formulas at the Pinus laboratories, in Monticello, Ill., and can be purchased in drug stores; a doctor's prescription is not necessary. Fruitola is a pure fruit oil that acts as an intestinal lubricant, and disintegrates the hardened particles that cause so much suffering, discharging the accumulated waste to the sufferer's intense relief.

20 MILLION PEOPLE USE CASCARETS--WHY?

Only True Tonic for Liver and Bowels Costs 10 Cents a Box.

You eat one or two Cascarets like candy before going to bed and in the morning your head is clear, tongue is clean, stomach sweet, breath fresh, and cold gone and you feel grand.

Cascarets are a treat! They lighten your liver, clean your thirty feet of bowels and sweeten your stomach.

Get a 10 or 25-cent box at any drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Stop sick headaches, bilious spells, indigestion, furred tongue, offensive breath and constipation. Mothers should give cross, peevish, feverish, bilious children a whole Cascaret any time.—Adv.

Better order one of these convertible Sedans or Coupes right away. It will probably be a long time before you can again buy such luxurious cars at so low a price.

Factory foresight began the construction of these cars several months ago so that you might have them as soon as the weather turned—without the aggravating delay so often encountered in the purchase of a closed car.

And the materials for them were purchased when prices ruled much lower than now. They represent wonderful value judged by the present day range of prices for materials.

You thus get the double advantage of low cost—and immediate delivery. Come in and let us show you these cars.

WIFE NO. 1 WILL GIVE HUSBY NO. 2 FOR $1,000. Connelville, Pa.—For $1,000, Mrs. Olive Garrity, of Pittsburgh, wife Number One of Richard J. Garrity, has relinquished her claim to her husband in favor of wife Number Two, with whom her husband, 50 years old, has been living for two months.

Garrity left his first wife and four children nearly eight years ago, and during that time Mrs. Garrity Number Two disappeared soon after the discovery of her husband's duplicity and has not been found.

We have knowledge that we all want love and marriage and the happiness of the home—and some of us miss all these opportunities. Joyful and sane companionship by taking an elaborate attitude of wanting to prove how very conventional and well-behaved we are. Let me illustrate:

Hilda is twenty-six. She lives in a tiny apartment far out in Harlem. Her home is clean and neat and her mother and young brother are very lovable people. Poverty has not taken charm from them. Hilda has worked so hard keeping her mother and giving her brother a chance at a decent education that she has had nothing of youth, nothing of joy and color in her life.

One day a pleasant voice comes over the wire to Hilda. There is a new manager in the office of Marshall & Co. Hilda is alert and agreeable. Into the friendly help she gives the new customer of her firm, there creeps a young man who is very natural between man and woman. The manager of Marshall & Co. comes over to her office. He turns out to be a nice, big, clean, homely man of about thirty-five. His eyes are honest, his voice is clear. The men in Hilda's office say he is a fine chap.

But he is homely and thirty-five. His fingers are blunted by hard work and his coats do not sweep in at the waistline with the superb fit of a tailor's model. He wears red ties, and they do not go with his complexion. Perhaps Hilda dismissed him before.
