tremely difficult for the marksman to register hits. Then, too, later in the afternoon the last events were contested in a downpour.

Regular Shooter

Tomlin's score would have won him a high place in any tournament held under perfect conditions. The du Pont championship was sliot from the 18-yard rise, with the targets thrown a full sixty yards. Tomlin shattered three in the first event and came back strong in the following one dropping into the grass only one of the twenty-five targets thrown for him. His third event netted him twenty-three again, while he dropped another in the final event, bringing his total up to 94 health of headen.

stencroft, the Philadelphia crack, had a mark of 83 and landed third place. Two gunners were tied for fourth place—Fred Plum, of Atlantic City, and Otis Johnson, of Forest Hill. Each shattered eighty-two out of the 100 targets thrown for him.

Winners at Doubles

The eastern doubles championship also went to an eastern out-of-town marksman, W. Wolstencroft, of Philadelphia having a mark of 45 out of

Triangular Series Opens at Steelton While Tech Plays Altoona For First Time

Much interest is centered on the local scholastic football contests which are scheduled for this afternoon. The first game of the triangular series between Steelton, Tesh and Central will be staged on Cottage Hill, where Central and Steelton will fight for a decision. The Steelton team is composed of veterans from last season, while Coach Smith has been drilling the Central squad in preparation for this contest.

MARQUARD AND DOOLEY

Rube Marquard, singing, and Bill Dooley, doing comeav are the vaude-ville team thortly to enter before the footlights. Rube, who kept himself before the taseball fans the past season pitching for Brooklyn, has been rehearsing the songs to be used in the turn. Those who heard Reuben say he is there as a vocalist, Dooley is one of the Dooley family and has appeared often in vaudeville.

"Sister acts" in vaudeville will be in vogue this season, in larger quantities than heretofore, and the war will be blamed for it, after awhile, when some of the sister teams are seen. There is always a surplus of young women who believe they are a capable part of a mixed two-act but can't find the other part, he having frequently gone to War of late. EDWARDS' BIG REVUE The new Gas Edwards revue, to be headed by Olga Cook and carry around thirty-five people, will be ready for vaudeville the end of this month. It is penciled to "break in" at Yonkers, N. Y. Mr. Edwards' "Band Box Revue" is another attraction of that producer, also in vaudeville.

spirit of the scenes, the fantastic story of pirates and buried treasure. Herbert Ashton is responsible for the production. He staged the piece elaborately in four acts and six scenes, with an appreciation of the romantic requirements of the story. There is the good ship Hispaniola adrift at sea, dawn at Treasure Island, and the stockade in the woods, are among the novel scenes. The company, headed by Herbert Ashton and Ruth Dettin, is an impressive one of twenty-four members.

The first day of the game season finds many Harrisburgers in the woods. Opinions differ as to it being an ideal day. Every hunter has his liking. According to one nimrod, the rain will make it easier to get to the game, because of the soft ground. Wet leaves, however, are not the best thing requiring care in walking.

The Kicker's handicap at Reservoir Park links was concluded this afternoon. This unique tournament has aroused unusual interest. It is staged as a benefit to Professional McEwan, who has been ill for a long time. He will pick the winners after the scores have been handed in.

All over the United States prayers are going up for Bob Fitzsimmons. Some may not be in a religious veln, but there is not a fight fan on this globe who does not want to see the veteran fighter pull through.
