

JACKSON ORDERS 'A SAFETY DRIVE'

Commissioner Would Have the Work of State Brought Home to People at Once

A new educational drive for safety in the industries of Pennsylvania—a plan for members of the Department of Labor and Industry to convey verbal messages of carefulness and caution to employes in mass meetings, to workers in groups and to individual workmen in the mills—has been launched by Commissioner John Price Jackson.

Every member of the Department, and especially the hundred inspectors, wherever located in Pennsylvania, has been directed by Commissioner Jackson virtually to "go on the stump" for safety, to arrange for additional safety rallies at the large plants in their localities, to give noonday safety talks and to preach safety constantly in individual associations.

This intensive verbal drive for safety is to supplement the motion picture entertainments and other meetings for safety conducted by the Department, the safety data promulgated by printed matters and the regular safety inspection work by the field forces of the Department.

A written communication from Commissioner Jackson has been received by every member of the Department, directing as a patriotic duty co-operation in the work of saving many lives.

The arranging for mass meetings and the giving of noonday talks will be especially the work of the inspectors. They will seek the co-operation of all employers and labor organizations in this activity and will aim to inaugurate a series of great safety rallies to be conducted throughout the state during the coming fall and winter.

Bishop Joins Nash Motors as Assistant Sales Manager

Announcement has been made by C. B. Voorhis, general sales manager of the Nash Motors Company, Kenosha, Wisconsin, of the appointment of R. P. Bishop to the post of assistant sales manager. Mr. Bishop has just resigned the position of general sales manager of the King Motor Car Company, Detroit, to join the Nash organization.

"An unusually wide and varied experience in the motor car industry fits Mr. Bishop particularly well for his new work," says Mr. Voorhis. "There are few executives in the automobile world who enjoy a wider acquaintance among dealers and distributors."

Early in life Mr. Bishop recognized opportunities in the selling end of the automobile industry. Immediately after leaving college he laid the foundation for a successful sales career by gaining a practical working knowledge of automobiles. This knowledge he gained by laboring in a machine shop around an experienced man in garages and foundries.

In 1909 Bishop joined the Buick company as a member of the cost department. He was ready to accept winning promotion to the management of the department in plant No. 4. Subsequently, he took charge of the entire division of the Buick cost department.

Meantime, Mr. Bishop was furthering his practical education, spending four nights a week in the Buick factory endeavoring to get more knowledge of the mechanical end of the automobile business. In two years he was ready to start his wings at selling, and got a flying start. After three months on the road, he took charge of sales for the Cutting Motor Car company of Jackson, Michigan. He remained with this company until 1914, when he joined the King Motor Car company, Detroit, as special representative.

Appointment as assistant sales manager came early in 1915, which was soon followed by promotion to the office of general sales manager. This latter position he held until his recent selection as assistant head of the fast growing Nash sales organization.

TWO CHILDREN HURT BY AUTO

Driver and Companion Desert Machine After Accident Near Greencastle

Waynesboro, Oct. 20.—Two children of Mrs. J. C. Hollingshead, who lives on a farm west of Greencastle, only a short distance from the town, were knocked down and injured in an automobile accident yesterday. The boy and girl were returning from Greencastle with some groceries for the home and were walking along the side of the road when an automobile driven by two young men veered from the main road and ran over them. The car knocked down the railing along an embankment nearby and landed in the ditch. The children were left unconscious in the road. The driver and his companion took to their heels and ran over the fine hills, where they were soon lost to view.

The Rev. J. W. Brewbaker went to the assistance of the children and physicians were summoned. It was found that the girl, Hazel, who is eight years old, was injured about the head, and the boy, Henry, aged 6, received injuries to the chest. Policeman Baumgardner and a member of the State Police force went into the mountains to search for the men who ran over the children, but on account of the thick growth of bushes, the men easily made their escape. The automobile they abandoned was a Ford with a West Virginia license, and in it were found two quart bottles of whiskey and an old Colt revolver.

It is thought that the men might be robbers, as when they took breakfast at a hotel in Greencastle they gave the clerk a $50 bill to take out the price of their meals. They seemed to have plenty of money.
