Their Kaiser, Who likened the German soldiers to bloodhounds held upon the leash by the kaiser's throng, as they strained upon the leash with bloody jaws, longing to tear their French and Belgian prey? With bloody fingers, the Kaiser said, 'I baptize the 'Hun' and 'barbarlan.'' Let the Kaiser's words stand: 'For a thousand years no man shall speak the word 'Hun' without shuddering.'

"That is why our President, answering the Pope, said that no treaty signed by the Kaiser and his government means anything. And here is Bernstorff, German Ambassador in Washington, who forgets that cannibals and savages, even, consider that eating sait in another Indian's tent or white man's house is a pledge of truth—while this Judas Ambassador dines at the White House at night and goes on plotting seditions in Mexico, blowing up of our munition factories, and the killing of our people. Bernstorff smiled and smiled, as he kept one hand above the table and in the other hand under the table wheted a dagger on his boots with which to stab his host in the back.

After several Norwegian steamers had been mysteriously sunk at sea, the German Consul was found traveling back and forth from the Forest on the most deadly distrunk with bombs and glass tubes containing the cultures of glanders to spread one of the most deadly diseases, to annihilate men, horses and cattle, and protecting these instruments of deads by the seals of the Berlin Foreign Office. The substance of Germany's answer to Norway's protest was the sneering answer, What are you going to do about it?" While Germany's Ambassador to the Argentine Republic, adpart of the same cunning, devilish, German diplomacy that exhibits those German Ambassadors as a composite Judas, Macchiavelli and Mephistopheles, united and carried up to the nth power of diabolism. No wonder the Kaiser baptized them 'Huns' and 'barbarians.'

German Philosophy Degrades

"The German philosophy has dehumanized Germany's officers and men. Later on, I shall give a defailed account of the devastated regions of Northern France, but here and now let us confine the observations to the ruined villages and towns of Eastern France. The Devastated Regions.

"For forty years the two great enemies of farms and towns and cities have been fire, flood and earthquake. Witness the city of St. Pierre. An interior explosion blew off the cap of the mountain, and a flood of gas poured down upon the lovely city, asphyxiated the citizens and left not one house standing. Witness that mighty convulsion in San Francisco that brought thousands of bricks crashing down in ruins. Witness the fire in Chicago that turned the great city into twisted iron and ashes. In New Zealand there is a lake called Avernus, the birdless lake. Poisonous gases rise from the black flood of water, and soon the lark with its song, and the lark with its ong, and the gagle with its flight fall into the poisonous flood. But all these limpoisonous flood. But all these limpoisonous flood. But all these limpoisonous flood, but all these limpoisonous flood fl it takes another summer or many, there is no British nor Canar an officer. no French nor Italian whose face does not turn to granite and steel whenever you suggest that he will not walk down the streets of Berlin and institute a military court, and try a Kaiser and his staff for murder. That is one of the things that is settled, and about which discussion is not permitted by soldier regiments.

Destruction of Rheims "It is this total lack of mental capacity to appreciate architecture that explains Germany's destruction of some of the noblest buildings of the world. She cannot by any chance conceive how the other races look upon her vandalism. Her own foreign government expressed it publicly in one of her state papers, in these words, 'let the neutrals cease chattering about cathedrals, Germany does not care one straw if all the galleries and churches in the world were destroyed, providing we gain our ends.' "Now apply those tests to the Kaiser and his war staff, and you understand why Rheims Cathedral is a ruin. No building since the Parthenon was more precious to the world's culture. ground was deep with snow, man wounded men had been carried if from the field, but at midnigh when his work was done, the su geon wrote me this letter:

""This war is of God. Sometimes it is peace that is hell. The soldier's life is a life of poverty, obedience, self-sacrifice; we know what the civilian's life is, But for the chastisement of this war, Berlin and Vienna, London and Parls, would have descended into hell within three generations. I once spoke in your Plymouth on the blessings of peace; if ever again I have that privilege, I shall speak on the the blessing of war. I never dreamed that men could be so noble. Fof three months I have slept on the stone; for three months before that in a tent: for six months I have not been in a bed; but I have note been happy. I have acquired the Mne freedom of a dog, and like a dog I wear a metal tag around my neck so that they may know to whom I belong when it happens that I can no longer speak. And never was a man engaged in a cause so noble. I have seen Belgium; I have seen a lamb torn by the wolf; I am on the side of the lamb. I know the explanations the wolf has to offer—they do not interest me. I only wish that you were here with me at this battle for your own good; for right here at this western front this war will be decided, just where all the great wars of history have always been decided, its to decided already, but will take the enemy some time yet to find it out.'
