

U. S. PLANS GREAT EXPANSION OF FIELD ARTILLERY

American Artillerists Will Use Famous French 75's; Thousands Turned Out

French Artillery Saves Lives of Infantrymen
By Associated Press
American Training Camp in France, Oct. 26.—Major General Sibert, returning from around Soissons, where he witnessed part of the French offensive on the Aisne front, said that the French losses had been extremely small because of the effectiveness of the artillery preparations. He and the other American officers were enthusiastic over the importance of the French victory, especially as to the amount of material and number of prisoners taken. The American officers were impressed greatly with the preponderance of the French artillery over the German guns.

EVERY PERSON IN THIS GROUP IS PROUD POSSESSOR OF LIBERTY BONDS

Washington, Oct. 26.—Arrangements have been completed for speed expansion of the field artillery branch of the country's military service on a scale so large as to be beyond all precedent.

An artillery school of large proportions is already under way at Fort Mill, number of Tobyhanna, Pa., and a number of others are springing up quietly but efficiently. The principal part of the education, however, is to be carried on at the great artillery school of Fontainebleau, and other training quarters in France. There 2,500 young men at a time will receive a four months' intensive course which will fit them as artillery officers.

All this is preliminary to the great drive next spring and summer along the whole western front. That huge

Lift Out Your Corns

ICE-MINT
THE NEW DISCOVERY ENDS ALL Foot Troubles

This new discovery, made from a Japanese product is certainly a wonder the way it draws out inflammation from a pair of swollen, burning, aching feet. It takes the soreness right out, then the corn or callus shrivels and lifts off.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, just sprivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful. Just think! Not one bit of pain while applying ice-mint or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

You will never have to cut a corn again and run the risk of blood poisoning. Say good-bye to your old corn salves, plasters and bandaging tape for that pet corn of yours is sure to be a "gone" if it ever feels the magic touch of ice-mint.

It imparts such a delightful, soothing, cooling feeling to the feet that you will sigh with relief. Ice-mint is the real Japanese secret for fine, healthy little feet. It prevents foot odors and keeps them sweet and comfortably appreciated by those who wear high heel shoes.

Just ask in any drug store for a little ice-mint and give your poor, suffering, tired, swollen feet the treat of their lives. It costs little and there is nothing better.—Advertisement.

effort will be largely an artillery affair in which American soldiers manning French 75s will be called upon to do their full share.

Artillery One-third of Army
What that full share will amount to is realized when it is known that the present proportion of artillery in France is one-third of the total military offensive. That astounding ratio will be maintained, possibly increased, when the co-ordinated efforts of England, France and the United States begin their thunderous effort next April.

Shells for the use of the artillery are already being heaped mountain-high in anticipation of the great drive. The making of a sufficient number of guns is another problem, and had it not been for the co-operation of France, it might have been a stumbling block to our progress.

France Speeds Output
With the speeding up of the French plants which turn out the famous 75s, however, the handicap has been overcome and the lads who are to command the gun crews will find the long, slim weapons with their characteristic horizon-blue camouflage ready for them when they leave the schools that are to make them first-class artillery officers.

Speculation as to the future of the new artillery service is being indulged in quietly here. Will we take over the 75 as our standard field piece through an arrangement with the French government growing out of the war, or will we use the 75 as the foundation and the inspiration for field guns of our own? That is the question that, if it has already been answered officially, is locked in the breasts of the War Department officials of France and the United States.

GIRL CAUGHT IN COGS; MOTHER CUTS OFF ARM

Pierre, S. D.—Mrs. J. B. Clarkson, of Harding county, was forced to decide whether to amputate the arm of her little daughter or allow the child to suffer with her arm, crushed in the machinery of a power washing machine, until she could go a long distance for help. She decided that as the arm was so badly mangled that it would have to be cut off, she would perform the operation.

With the implements at hand she cut the suffering child loose and hurriedly getting a team ready took her to the nearest physician, where the injured stump was properly cared for.

The child had been left alone in a shed where a power washing machine was running, and becoming frightened at a dog, attempted to go around the machine and her arm was caught in the cogs.

OPERATIONS TO BE CONSIDERED

Compensation Board Issues Ruling on That Phase

The Pennsylvania State Compensation Board in an opinion given in Engblom vs. American Steel and Wire company answers a suggestion that it state its policy in regard to operations where conditions may be improved by saying, "If the board shall be satisfied from the evidence in any case that the disability caused by the injury can be removed by a surgical operation and that the operation will not add other disability by any chance endanger the life of the employee and shall be further satisfied from the manner and temper of the injured employee that his refusal to submit to the operation is an act of malingerer or of mere whim and unreasonable timidity on the part of the employee, such action will be taken and such control of compensation payments will be assumed by the board as shall tend to persuade the employee to submit to an operation."

The commission makes a ruling in the case of Kondratik vs. Hudson Coal Company, a Scranton case, in which the overtime question was raised, the contract resulting from the agreements between the anthracite operators and the Mine Union and providing that eight hours shall constitute a day's work and that all over that shall be considered overtime being offered. The board finds that the man worked twelve hours a day and was paid on that basis and says: "Under the facts and circumstances of this case we cannot agree that four hours out of each twelve hours that the deceased regularly worked is to be regarded as 'overtime' being offered. This it seems to us, would not be just and equitable." The referee is sustained in taking into consideration the entire amount earned in the full twelve hours a day.
