

Letters From the Front

HARRISBURG BOY FINDS LIFE IN FRANCE INTERESTING

A letter just received from George Erb, a member of the Bell Telephone Signal Corps, who left for France in August, contains much interesting description and narration for those who expect to go to France to serve their country. The letter follows:

Dear Frank: Well, here we are, you know you can't keep a good man down, so when Uncle Sam decided to send us over there was nothing to it. The Atlantic Ocean and Fritz's "tin fish" didn't scare us a rap, consequently "you're truly" and his outfit are camping "somewhere" in France. Our days of watchful waiting at the training camp were finally rewarded with the announcement one evening that we were to pack and get ready to leave the next morning. We had breakfast the next morning at 3 o'clock and at 4 shouldered our kits and hiked for the station. Here we boarded the train for our port of sailing. On arriving we immediately went aboard our transport and said good-bye to "good old America." I must admit there was a good-sized lump in my throat as the ship sailed away and you could see nothing but water everywhere you looked. However, that gradually disappeared and I settled down to enjoy the ocean voyage.

Didn't Get Sick The trip was mighty fine and I wasn't the least bit sick, but then one couldn't possibly get sick for, barring one day, the ocean was as smooth as old "Swatara." I spent every minute I could on deck, and I didn't miss a trick if I could help it. I was detailed as one of the ship's...

CONSTIPATION CAUSES OBSTINATE HEADACHES

will usually find the bowels have been inactive, and if you relieve this condition, by clearing the intestinal organs of the fermenting congestion of stomach waste, foul gases and bile, the head is relieved immediately. Remember this the next time you suffer from headache. The combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended as a gentle laxative that acts easily and quickly, without griping or discomfort. It contains no opiate, narcotic, or habit-forming drug, is pleasant to the taste, and a most effective household remedy. Mothers find it especially desirable as a laxative for children.

You can buy Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist for fifty cents. Get a bottle and have it in the house when needed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

DOCTORED FIVE YEARS IN VAIN HE SAYS

Couldn't Even Get Temporary Relief and His Work Was a Burden

SAYS TANLAC HELPED HIM

"For five years I tried in vain to get rid of my stomach trouble," says W. H. Harmon, of 135 E. Baptist street, York, Pa. "I went from doctor to doctor, but couldn't get any relief and I tried medicine after medicine without result. The pains in my stomach kept getting worse and worse for I got so bad that I couldn't get the gas out of my stomach. I was so constipated that I had to be constantly taking laxatives, I lost my appetite and had become so nervous that I couldn't sleep and I could feel myself growing weaker. It was awful indeed.

"Finally after hearing so many good reports about Tanlac I started taking it and to my joy it helped me right away. My stomach was quickly restored to health, my bowels became regular and now I feel better in every way than I have in years."

Tanlac, the famous reconstructive tonic, is now being introduced here at Gorgas' Drug Store who have secured the exclusive sale of this master medicine in Harrisburg.

Tanlac is also sold at the Gorgas Drug Store in the P. R. Station; in Carlisle at W. B. Stephens' Pharmacy; Elizabethtown, Albert W. Cain; Greencastle, Charles B. Carl; Middletown, Colin S. Few's Pharmacy; Waynesboro, Clarence Croft's Pharmacy; Mechanicsburg, H. F. Brunhouse.—Ad.

CONSTITUTION BLOCKS MERGER

Because Telephones Were Not Invented in 1873 Companies Can Not Consolidate.

Because telephone companies have always been classed as telegraph companies in incorporation laws and decisions thereon and because the constitution, drafted before telephones were given to the public, forbids the merger of competing telegraph lines the Public Service Commission in a decision just handed down refuses its approval to a merger with a statement of its regret at being compelled to take such action. Commissioner John S. Rilling, however, declines to take the view of the majority of his colleagues and has filed a dissenting opinion in which he holds that there is no constitutional bar to merger of telephone companies when it will relieve a condition where there is "half the service at twice the pay." In its decision, one of the most interesting rendered in many months, the commission states that it finds that the operation of the Cochran Telephone and the Merchants and Farmers Telephone companies, which have lines in Crawford, Mercer and other counties in northwestern Pennsylvania, as competing companies is uneconomical and wasteful, but refuses to sanction a merger of the companies because both were incorporated under the general incorporation act, which was enacted the year after the present constitution was framed and under which consolidation of telegraph companies is forbidden. The companies applied for approval of a merger and the decision states that it has been ascertained that they have competing lines, but that the operation of the lines results in a duplication of service and facilities which places a burden upon the public and prevents the companies from making extensions necessary to afford adequate service. The decision says that if the question of improvement of the service and benefits to the public was the only one it would unhesitatingly approve the application filed. However, the courts have held and the Legislature has followed the ruling that the act authorizing formation of telegraph companies included telephone companies so that the commission must follow the constitutional prohibition of mergers of telegraph companies. "If it were not for this constitutional provision we would hold that the public service company law has repealed those provisions of various acts of assembly which prohibit the consolidation of telephone companies owning, operating or controlling competing lines," concludes the decision. Commissioner Rilling has filed a dissenting opinion containing forty-two points in which he holds that the constitutional prohibition applies only to telegraph companies and that "it is a well established rule of constitutional and statutory construction that the words used must be given that meaning which they had at the time of the adoption of the constitution and of enactment of the statute." He says when the constitution was framed there was no telephone and that the framers of the constitution did not mean anything that was non-existent, while when the telephone was invented and it became necessary to organize telephone companies and there was no law on the books for incorporation "the courts by a latitudinous power exercised in rare cases" held that for the purposes of incorporation telephone and telegraph companies might be included as in the same general class. He also holds that the public service company law has repealed former statutes and that the commission has authority to approve a telephone merger which would result in "more adequate service at more reasonable rates."

Wife of Governor Dies in Auto Crash Wilmington, Del., Oct. 29. — The wife of Governor Townsend was crushed to death beneath an overturned automobile and the Governor sustained painful though not serious injuries when the car which he was driving toward their home at Selbyville upset near Georgetown late Saturday night. A rain-spattered windshield and a rain-caused downpour are believed to have caused the accident which sent the machine from the roadbed, spinning over and over. In the blackness the Governor, who had been thrown clear, groped toward his wife, guided by her groans. She was pinned down by the back of the rear seat. He managed to free her, and she revived as he lifted her. He had taken but a few steps, however, when she expired in his arms. The exact cause of death is not yet known. The Governor is nearly frantic with grief over the accident.
