Doctors' Reports on Nuxated Iron

Physician for Ten Years Says Tests Made With It On Stubborn Cases Where Other Tonics Had Failed, Absolutely Convinced Him of Its Remarkable and Unusual Power

Also opinion of Dr. James Louis Beyca, who at nearly 80 years of age, says he obtained astonishing new energy, and renewed vitality with a short course of this remarkable product.

Careful investigation by physicians among druggists and patients has revealed the fact that there are thousands of people taking iron who do not distinguish between organic iron and metallic iron. They seem to think iron is the same thing, whether it is a potato which is cooked or raw, entirely ignoring the fact that the cooking process makes certain important cellular changes in the potato that renders it far more easy of assimilation by the blood and tissues.

Therefore, physicians advise those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder to go to their family druggists and obtain a prescription calling for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and present this to their druggist, so that there may be no question about obtaining the proper article. But if they do not wish to do this, they should get a prescription for Nuxated Iron, then be sure to look on the label and see that the words NUXATED IRON are printed thereon. Not Nux and Iron nor any other form of iron but NUXATED IRON.

HARRISBURGER HELD FOR THEFT

Alleged to Have Taken Part in Recent Post-Office Robberies

Following word received here yesterday by the police department from York, Pa., officers are endeavoring to look out for a couple of alleged yegmen believed to have been heading west in a stolen automobile, a telegram was received from Baltimore saying that a man who gave his name as James Kline, of Harrisburg, had been arrested with Edward Wilson, of Pittsburg, charged with robbing United States post offices.

The Baltimore dispatch follows: "The Baltimore Post-Dispatch, Oct. 29.—With two alleged yegmen under arrest and the police of a half-dozen counties making strenuous efforts to apprehend three others who made their escape, United States post office inspectors, headquarters detectives of this city and the officials of Harford county believe they have broken up one of the most dangerous gangs that have ever operated in this section of the country.

When the men were approached in Harford county, Sunday morning, by Sheriff Atkin, they did not hesitate to open fire with revolvers, and with several companions, succeeded in catching two.

To-day these two men were taken to Baltimore. They gave their names as James Kline, of Harrisburg, and Edward Wilson, of Pittsburg. The latter is said to have been identified by Lieutenant Casey, in charge of the Bertillon department, as Joe Martin, of Trenton, N. J.

The post office at Altoona, Pa., was robbed Saturday night. The fact that the burglars had in their possession $240 worth of postage stamps, which were wrapped in an Altoona newspaper of Saturday, led to the belief that the yegmen are responsible for the Altoona robbery.

Escape in Stolen Auto York, Pa., Oct. 30.—Three yegmen of a gang of five, two of whom were arrested yesterday morning near Jarrettsville, Md., after a revolver battle with a sheriff's posse, went through York this morning in a stolen automobile. They managed to elude the officers who set up an immediate pursuit. The automobile, a five-passenger touring car, was stolen from the garage of Gilpen Stubbs, at Delta.

The thieves entered York over the Chancefork pike, but their course from this city has not been traced. It is believed that they are the men who attempted to rob the Shrewsbury post office early yesterday morning, but were surprised by the postman.

MUCH VARIETY IN MUSICAL REVUE

"Odds and Ends of 1917" Is an Assortment of Songs and Comedy

Fascinating melodies, an exceptionally good chorus and the best of comedy—what more can one expect from a musical revue? These have all been included in "Odds and Ends of 1917," presented at the Orpheum last night by Norworth and Shannon. But it doesn't stop at that.

The arrangement of the program in itself is a novel idea to arouse the interest and enthusiasm of an audience. Someone in the show must be a baseball fan, otherwise between parts I and II there wouldn't be the words "Seventh Inning; All Stretch." Musicians there are "odds and ends" aplenty. Anyone who heard "Fancy You Fancying Me" and "Why Did You Get Those Irish Eyes" and who appreciates a tune-fun melody will be humming them over for many a day.

Mr. Watson, well known to many Harrisburgers, takes care of the comedy end of the production. While there are other little parts slipped in to add to the fun, Watson leads in starting the laughter. His telephone booth skit is one of the more laughable bits of include ever presented here.

Two other offerings in the second part of "Odds and Ends," which were especially cleverly chosen, are an amusing song, "Since Hector Was a Pup" by Norworth and Miss Lorraine, and "Sometime, Somewhere With Pershing," a near tragedy (?) in the trenches.

All of the settings in the scenic arrangement are artistic, cleverly designed, and the color schemes are of the best. There is only one thing which the audience last night had cause to regret. Encores could not be so plentiful and those which were given were short because the curtain was held to accommodate those who saw the big recruiting parade.

PARADE MARKS CLOSE OF RECRUITING DAY

men in line who added materially to the military aspect of the parade. Corporal Wiley, of the Panama recruiting office, who stands six feet five, was the first color bearer, the others being First Sergeant William Hart of Harrisburg, Corporal Richard Bartlebaugh, of Altoona, and Sergeant John W. Blake, of the local station. These were the only previous-day soldiers in the parade.

The boys from Tech High school were represented in force in the marching club being attire in the official school uniform. The members of the faculty, as well as the students turned out in large numbers to the parade.

Army Men Pleased The parade moved from Market to Fourth, to Sixth, to Seneca, to Third, to the color schemes are of the best. There is only one thing which the audience last night had cause to regret. Encores could not be so plentiful and those which were given were short because the curtain was held to accommodate those who saw the big recruiting parade.
