MAN KILLED IN STREET BY AUTO IS UNIDENTIFIED

Victim Bears Nothing to Show Who He Might Have

Coroner Eckinger to-day is unable to find any identifying mark on the body of the aged man, struck by an automobile at Second and Locust streets last evening. A card bearing the name of A. Cohen, 926 North Sixth street, is the only clue to identify, and when members of the Cohen family were questioned, they knew nothing about the man. Miss Esther Cohen, 928 North Sixth street, said that the man did not, in any way, answer the description of the A. Cohen, who is at present working in Pittsburgh.

The man was knocked down by the automobile driven by W. W. Leck, one of the officials of the Bethlehem Steel Company, Steelton. Leck was in the parade crowd at Second and Locust, and when he was told to go shead by the traffic officer, started his machine. Just at that moment, the victim of the accident walked in front of the car and was struck by the machine. He was rushed to the Harrisburg Hospital and died in a few minutes. His death was due to compound fracture of the skull.

The victim is between 50 and 60 years of age, has gray hair, a cleanshaven face, and wore a blue suit. There were no papers in his pockets save the one card, and a small amount of money. The body was placed in the Harrisburg Hospital mortuary, and will be held for identification. Coroner Eckinger will hold an inquest after the body has been identified.

Dauphin County Farmers Return From Auto Tour of Lancaster County

Nearly a hundred farmers of Dauphin county have returned from yesterday's automobile tour of Lancaster county where agricultural methods there were studied.

The Dauphin farmers were accompanied from Lancaster city to Manheim by a similar party of farmers about equal in number, who represented the steer feeders of Adams county. This tour was also conducted by the Adams County Farm Bureau.

When the party arrived on the farm of Mr. Culp they heard three most interesting addresses by experts along the steer and hog feeding lines. Professor W. H. Tomhave spoke on steer feeding experiments as they have been conducted at the Pennsylvania State College. He also spoke concerning the present crisis in the beef production and gave advise as to the possibilities in feeding cattle. Mr. Tomhave was asked many questions by the farmers who listened to his address.

Germans Repulsed

On the Alsne front in northern France where the French in their recent advance northwest of Laon have jeopardized the safety of a considerable section of the German lines, the Germans delivered an attack last night in an effort to push back the French in the resion of Cerny. The French easily repulsed this assault. The artillery battle is continuing in the sector in which the French made their advance, where the hostile forces are now lined up on opposite sides of the Oise-Alsne canal. In the Verdun region General Petain's troops last night regained more of the small strip of ground lost in a recent German assault in the Caurieres wood sector east of the Meuse.

The expression is rather one of that optimistic character which often sees good issue from temporary evil. So far as the moral effect here is concerned, there is no question that it has been one of stiffened resolve. There is the belief that the temporary victory achieved by the enemy although of marked character, can be overcome by determined resolve. It is recognized that the Italian army made its advance in the face of almost insuperable obstacles and handicapped by want of supplies.

"I had been working under a tremendous strain during the past months and it had almost worn me out. My stomach was in such bad shape that nothing agreed with me. Instead of digesting, my food would lie in my stomach for hours after eating and form polsons which seem to circulate throughout my system. My bowels seemed to sap my strength and vitality and I had hardly any energy or ambition.

"I tried many things in an effort to relieve my suffering but without success until I found Tanlac. My stomach is in fine fettle and easily digests everything I eat. My bowels are again normal for which I am certainly thankful. Tanlac has my sincere thanks."
