

BUNCO MEN GET $613 FOR '22-KARAT GOLD'

[Continued from First Page.] name of a jeweler who might buy a card of rings. The two called a Steelton number and a half an hour later in came a man with a card of a Steelton jeweler who bought the rings for $200. By this time, the man had produced a box of gold dust that he had gotten in Reno, Nev. This was "analysed" before Mr. Goldstein and declared to be worth $2,500. "Pure enough for dental work, 22 karat," was the swindler's verdict. This work was observed by Mr. Goldstein who himself tests gold and silver in the course of his business. The Steelton confederate was anxious to buy the lot but had only $1,200. Not Satisfied Two checks were written out for various sums which apparently were cashed at nearby banks. Still the sum was short and the first bunco stealer advised Goldstein to get in on the deal and make a quick profit. Goldstein protested for a time, but finally agreed to lift his entire bank balance of $600 to complete the purchase. The confidence men were not satisfied even with this. The fund was still short $13, they said, and the three then went to the bank leaving the "gold" in their victim's hands. They did not come back and the next assay did not come up to the first quality. The police to-day were unable to locate any clue to the three men. They found that the "jeweler" had used a card of a Steelton man, but that the real jeweler had never heard of the man who impersonated him.

NEWTON GETS IN NEW HOTEL

[Continued from First Page.] for upwards of an hour. Finally in an unguarded moment he waded a greeting to his friends on the pavement and then, quoting Edmund James of Camp Hill, "the stuff was off." Newton played an unfair trick on the contractors. He camouflaged himself as a carpenter. "Kramed with trace and bit, a hammer and other tools and wearing the regulation carpenter's apron filled with eleven hands of nails, Newton at 7 o'clock presented himself at the Penn-Harris Hotel with the calm confidence of a man who had been on the job three days. He was permitted to scale the crags and precipices until he reached the fourth floor. There he enjoyed himself to what one might call the utmost, until finally he poked his head over the side and waved his scornful greeting to the unfortunates on the street. The remainder of the scene of horror was a trust for the contractor. They demanded permission to join Mr. Newton. The contractor's representative said Newton wasn't in the building. Upon investigating, however, he found the camouflaged one inside a piano box used for tools. Mr. Newton was eased from floor to floor just ahead of the contractor's angry representative. In the meantime Edmund James and the others had departed in a huff. They were going, they said, over to the Senate Hotel and wait until work started there. The contractor forced Newton to bring them back. Harmony was only restored after Newton had promised to buy some of the very best McEvoytown cigars to be found in Harrisburg.

Central High Notes

The Recognition Service of the Central High School Club took place last evening in the John Y. Boyd Hall. Forty-eight members were recognized. After the ceremony, Mrs. Williams gave a talk on "The War Work of the Young Women's and the Young Men's Christian Associations." She stated that very few chaplains are with the United States Army in France and that through the Christian Associations moral conditions are improved. Four million dollars are needed by the associations to carry on this work. Part of the money will be used to provide hostesses' houses and to prevent many evils from which other nations are suffering. Interpreters at the large camps are supported by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. The High School Club voted five dollars to be used to help in this work. Miss Elizabeth Garner explained the meaning of the Patriotic League to the club girls. It was unanimously decided to join this league. A letter from Miss Anna G. Seesholtz, high school field secretary, was read and a picture of the French war orphan supported by the high school delegates to Camp Nepalwin was presented. The money was raised by individual sacrifices and "silent suppers."

In a chapel announcement Principal Dibble urged students of Central High School to compete in the "Patriotic Contest." Information concerning this contest will be in the school bulletin. Prizes of $75, $50 and $25 are offered. An honor roll of graduates and ex-students of Central High who are serving in the Army, Navy or any other branch of the Government service will be placed in the hall of the building. Information concerning nominations should be given to the section leaders, who will hand it to those in charge of the honor roll.

A meeting of the Philonian Debating Society of Central High School will be held this evening at the home of John H. Boyd, 2115 Brinkman street. Six members will debate upon the subject, "Resolved, That the United States Was Justified in Passing the Censorship Bill." A junior class dance will be held Friday evening in Hanshaw's Hall. Stuart Wagner, president, and Miss Virginia Thomas, secretary, will be in charge of arrangements. Outsiders will be barred from junior class dances unless they are accompanied by a member of Central High School. The senior class will take action on this question later.

USE NEW ORGAN FOR RECITAL

Samuel A. Baldwin, Famous Organist, to Give Recital in St. Stephen's

An event which is being anxiously awaited in the forthcoming recital by Samuel A. Baldwin on the new three-manual organ in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Monday evening, November 12.

Mr. Baldwin is acknowledged one of the greatest organists in the country to-day and a well-known critic ever places him in the first rank of living organists.

Mr. Baldwin is professor of music in the college of the city of New York, where he also gives weekly recitals on the mammoth organ in the great hall, his audiences usually number 2,500 with many failing to get admission.

It is impossible to sell tickets, a liberal offer offering will be asked to cover expenses, all money over that will be given to the Red Cross.

The organ is nearly nearing completion and will be finished by the time of the recital.

The work is being done by the M. Miller Organ Company, of Hazleton, Pa., and will be a great addition to their many fine organs throughout the valley.

WOLFS ENTERTAIN AT MERRY PARTY

Ghosts and Goblins Help Hosts Make Jolly Evening For Their Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin E. Wolf, 809 North Sixteenth street and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bressler, 914 May street, entertained at the home of the former at a Halloween party. As the guests arrived they were confronted by a sign on the front door which read as follows: "Do not fear when ye enter here. All scary things are tied with strings." A gruesome ghost, who was Charles Kraut, met the guests in the hall and gave each the icy handshake after which another ghost, Leonard Diehl, directed their footsteps. The house was decorated with autumn leaves, cornstalks, Jack-o-Lanterns and black and orange festoons. Orange and white lights gave the rooms a shadowy appearance. Selections were played on the Victrola until the guests had arrived after which the party was a contest. The prize-winners were Mrs. Harvey Walmer, "Bill" Bressler and O. H. Brown.

Fun was created by bobbing for apples. One of the mysteries of the evening was the Hard-Time Menu. Supper was served, consisting of pumpkin pie, ginger cake, cider, hot corn and candy. After lunch the witch entered her den of corn-stalks, which was erected in the large iron pot soon stirred up a fortune for each of the guests.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Irvin E. Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Diehl, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kraut, and Mrs. Wm. H. Beistline. Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Long, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. PUT 'SMOKES' ON CHRISTMAS SHOPPING FUND

Time Is Here For Buying Tobacco For Our Boys at the Front

When you realize that only 25 cents is required from you to place in the hands of a fighting soldier a package containing enough smokes for a week you can see what you ought to do. What's a quarter, anyway? A good deal to some people, we'll admit. But to one of our boys longing for a smoke, such a package is worth a good deal more than its weight in gold. If you have any doubt of that, just ask us to show you some of the testimony that has been coming over from the other side. The men are just longing for American tobacco and cigars and this country is responding to the demand and sending thousands and thousands of these kits to France.

And right now at this moment is your chance to have your contribution count at Christmas time. Don't put it off, because it takes a long time to get these kits delivered, and your contributions to-day will just about connect with what we call over here the "holidays." That word is pretty hard to use when you think of it to No Man's Land. All the holidays they're going to get will be those minutes between fighting when they can have the consolation of a good American smoke.

So start that Christmas list of yours now. Do your soldier shopping early. Sit down and think how much money you can afford for this patriotic enterprise and send it in to us—make it as much as you can. Even a quarter will keep one soldier happy about a week and you can multiply this as many times as your circumstances afford.

Don't let those boys of ours go without this small package of cheer from the folks at home. There is money enough in the United States to buy a package for every soldier that we have in France several times over, and we count on the citizens of this city to do their part.

Once more, we ask you to picture to yourself conditions under which our American boys are going to spend their Christmas. Then think how easy it is for you to do this little bit. We know how you will respond and we count on every one of you for your share, small or large.

The following contributions have been received: Previously acknowledged, $725.78; C. A. Fair, 1.00; Hug, E. O. Athletic Assn., 2.00; Charles H. Cleecker, 1.00; Cash, 1.00. Total, $734.78.

LEHIGH CASE REARGUED

By Associated Press Washington, Nov. 7. — The government's dissolution suit against the Lehigh Valley Railroad and affiliated companies, one of the so-called antitrust cases, was reargued to-day in the Supreme Court. It was alleged that the Lehigh Valley interests owned ninety thousand acres of coal land, principally in the Wyoming fields of Pennsylvania and controlled approximately eighty per cent of the anthracite tonnage on its lines.
