A STATESMAN ON HIS KNEES

The International Sunday School Lesson For November 11 Is "Nehemiah's Prayer." Neh. ch. 1.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Drop into the local room of any ligion; but presidents, premiers, calling, and it will be easy to hear a flippant discussion by the young reperters concerning the out-of-date, men so freligion. DOUBLE MENACE ON ITALIAN FRONT

Heavy attacks have been launched by Teuton troops in the Giudicaria region of the Trentino front, northwest of Lake Carda. It is believed they presage a drive on this part of the Italian front to prevent Cadorna from sending reinforcement to the armies now standing on the Tagliamento. The Austro-German forces are exerting pressure on the extreme left of the Italians in this region.

Nehemiah found that his influence and position and statecraft were not equal to the emergency. Like Lincoln, he was compelled to turn to Gor for help by the conviction that he had nowhere else to go. The glorious paradox is forever true, that the shortest route to anywhere is by way of the throne of heaven. Concerned for loved ones beyond our reach, concerned for grave national ills, concerned for poor, distraught China and for the imperilled Christians of Turkey, we can but follow Nehemiah's statesmanlike example and carry their case to the King of kings.

A Model Prayer

The larger part of this first chapter of the book of Nehemiah is taken up with the prayer of the cupbearer of the king. It contains all the elements of a model prayer. First, there was the humble mind of the supplicant. He wept and mourned and fasted. Arrogance cannot prays, It is with reason that men pray from their knees. It is more important to recognize that God is on the throne than to know that we are in a position of need. Nehemiah's prayer exalted Jehovah, "that keepeth covenant." The old-fashioned prayers of our forefathers, which recognized the greatness and sovereignty of God, have gone somewhat out of fashion.

Professor Pittier was until recently connected with the United States Department of Agriculture. He has in preparation an exhaustive report on the flora of Panama, where he worked for several years for both the Republic of Panama and the Isthmus Canal Commission. He has specialized on economic botany also, established the agricultural school of Panama, and had much to do with the early development of the cacao industry in Costa Rico and other South and Central American countries. He discovered in Panama the largest bean in the world, and also found the largest tree in northern South America, the cuipo, growing here.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly: ferment into acids and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin helps neutralize the excessive acids in the stomach so your food won't sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is upset you usually get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it helps to regulate your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is positive in neutralizing the acidity, so the misery won't come back very you feel different as soon as "They". Pape the first properties of the security of the programs.

Boys and Girls Are Really in

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"More than three hundred boys and girls, whose ages range from eleven to sixteen, are hoping that you will pass on a message to the thousands of your readers who have younger brothers and sisters that elder brothers and sisters have the lives of their juniors in their direct control; that if they act honorably at home, in the street, in school—everywhere and every time—their younger brothers and sisters will unconsciously imitate them. That if, on the other hand, they risbehave and set a bad example, their younger relatives, sure as fate, will go and do likewise."

This message has come to me from the director of a splendid organization in one of our public schools. It is built around a larger message, which I give to you here.

"As we sow, so shall our younger brothers and sisters reap.

"Constant honesty—cherful obedience—ready helpfulness—if practiced by us in our daily lives, will surely be imitated by our younger brothers and sisters.

"Let us lead the way."

Ever since the days of Cain, who took the life of his younger brother because of his overmastering jealousy of Abel, men and women have been destroying. Not always murder, but often a crime scarcely lacking the malignanty of murder—the destruction of ideals—the death of a soul.

Which of us has not caught him-self using on sawa cocal-in the destruction of ideals—the death of a soul.

Which of us has not caught himself using on some occasion the very cruel phrase with which Cain evaded the issue of his guilt: "Am I my brother's keeper"

There is no evading the issue—you and I, we are the keepers of our brothers and sisters. The world leans forward toward the new generation. Youth must be taught and trained—not all by precept, but greatly by example.

Impulse to dress in grown-up clothes and "play lady" or policeman or Indian, we can read a sermon for ourselves. The little play actors are copying the externars of what they see—but the baby mimics go furth who had a tiny three-year-old girl. The child came and sat in front of me with hat and veil and gloves on. In her hand was a little hoop which she held parallel to the ground and jerked about as if it were the driving wheel of an automobile.

"I'se Aunt Lil." said the bady. Then she got up and ran around the room in a staggering, crooked course exactly like her aunt's alarming methods of steering a car. The baby knew better than to drive straight her hands on the steering wheel of a big car in motion, think where she would guide it!

Now in real life, children do get their weak, untrained little hands on the steering wheels of their lives. How shall they guide them straight—how avoid collision—how keep away from the dangerous titness and precipices at the side of the road, if their only model of guiding is the erratic, insene zest for some one considered and precipices at the side of the road, if their only model of guiding is the erratic, insene zest for some one considered and precipices at the side of the road, if their only model of guiding is the erratic, insene zest for some one considered where it is born, how it lives, on an it that surrounds it. Facts About the Sugar Situation

Our Government has asked you to use sugar sparingly. We believe that the people of this country will be glad to do their part to conserve the sugar supply when they know the facts.

These facts are as follows:

More than two-thirds of the source of Europe's sugar supply is within the present battle lines. This has resulted in greatly reducing the production of sugar in Europe.

England and France and other countries have been forced to go for sugar to Cuba.

Ordinarily, nearly all of the Cuban raw sugar comes to the United States and is refined here, chiefly for home use. This is not the case now.

In view of the exceptional world demand for sugar there is no surplus, and barely enough to tide us over until the new crop comes in. The people of the New England and Atlantic Coast States should use sugar sparingly. No one should hoard or waste it.

This Company has no surplus sugar to sell. It is working with the Government to conserve the supply, and to take care of the Allies so far as possible.

Do not pay an increased retail price.
