Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Prince Price of Produce Reaches COMIC PARADE Celebrate Golden Wedding

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 13.-With scores of messages of congratulation pouring in from all parts of the country, Dr. and Mrs. Morris W. Prince yesterday quietly celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home here. A dinner was held last evening, attended by close friends and relatives. Dr. Prince is a veteran of the Methodist Church and formerly occupied the chair of history at Dickinson College, resign-ing some years ago. Their son, Dr. Leon C. Prince, is an instructor at Dickinson and noted in this section as a lecturer.

Mountain Fire Near Mount Holly Springs Extinguished

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 13.—After working for twenty-four hours, fire wardens succeeded in extinguishing a mountain fire which broke out late Saturday near Mount Holly Springs and burned over a big section of timberland owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company and the Mount Holly Paper Company. The blaze started from a fire left by careless hunters in the opinion of the wardens.

HUNTER SHOOTS $1 PIG
Waynesboro, Pa., Nov. 13.—Daniel Singer went hunting for rabbits on Saturday and while in a field after he rad killed a few of the ounnies, he became so excited that he espied, what he thought was a rabbit larger than any he had ever come across. He banged away, and went to get it. It was a pig! Just at this moment the farmer appeared on the scene, and he was angry, so much so, that it seemed that young Singer was in danger of not getting off the premises without injury. The farmer's anger was appeased when Mr. Singer paid him $4 for the killing of the pig. ing of the pig.

LAKE ROGER DAM BREAKS

Waynesboro, Pa., Nov. 13.—A big break has occurred in the breast of the dam of Lake Royer at Cascade, near Pen Mar, and the water of the lower lake was all run out. It is said the break in the dam will not be repaired and the lake will be allowed to grow a crop of grass. The lake was a boating and bathing resort and will be much missed by cottagers and excursionists to the Blue Ridge mountain in the summer.

After a big meeting to be the dam of the condendary evening at which L. D. Wishard, of New York, recently returned from France, will emphasize turned from France, will emphasize turned from France, will emphasize turned from France, will emphasize to the needs of the organization.

High Price at Waynesboro

Waynesboro, Pa., Nov. 13.—All the necessaries of life are soaring in the necessaries of life are soaring in Wanyesboro, notwithstanding the fact that the strict rules of conservation are in effect and nothing is going to waste. The grocery stores here are almost out of sugar, not a pound to be purchased in many of the stores, while others are limiting the purchaser to two pounds. Butter that could be purchased a few weeks ago for 34 cents per pound is now 50 cents, while eggs have also reached that price. There seems to be quantities of both, but the parties having eggs and butter for sale—the farmers mostly—will not sell for any less, and if they don't get their price they will take it back home with them. Poultry and lard are two other things that have reached a prohibitive purchasing point.
