Secretary From Harrisburg Tells Just What Unit Is Doing For Men

Intervence of the man of the thousand things to the large crowd of buyers when Mr. Chesley, our chief, sent word to the new regiment that had just arrived the day before. He wanted me to tell them just what I did about the huts. On the way over I thought of the thousand things I did and general cleanup of the huts, care of bulletin boards, library, games, newspapers and magazines, preparation for entertainments, interpreting for Tom, Dick and Harry, etc.

"I have maps of France and Europe and and will begin a class in English for the French, who are asking for it.

"The French are perfectly wonderful. They treat our men as if they were friends all their lives. If you could look in our huts some evening you would be thrilled at the khaki and light blue uniforms all intermingled amidst the smoke. The comaraderie between the French and the Americans is one of the most splendid things I ever saw. There is none of the braggadocio I expected among the Americans nor the alcofness I thought the French might have towards us.

any other contracts prejudicial to the national defense, to prohibit international commerce with Germans, to intern enemy suspects and to revise land concessions to colonists. The 'Chamber adopted on first reading the bill providing for sending a military mission to France and a naval mission to England or the United States.

thought the French might have towards us.

"I forgot to tell you too that we have a complete athletic outfit and this afternoon there was a football and baseball game, a Franco-American boxing tournament and a soccer game. To-morrow afternoon (Sunday) there will be a Franco-American soccer game. The fellows are right when they say there is always something doing at the Y.

"This afternoon I saw a good illustration of the good feeling between the troops. One of the Americans took a button out of his pocket and offered it to a Frenchman. The Frenchman said he would have a brooch made with it for his wife. Then the American began to examine the Frenchman's buttons simply to discover what difference there was. The latter immediately ripped off almost all his buttons and passed them around. When I left them they were showing each other pictures of their families and sweethearts and having a great time. And none of them understood the other's language. It's great.

Teams in the various towns will report officially the latest part of the week. How much Camp Hill contributed to the fund so far will be known after to-night's meeting. The Rev. Raymond Ketchledge, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, chairman has called a meeting of committeemen.

West Shore Towns Working For Y. M. C. A. War Fund

Although no official reports on the amounts contributed to the Y. M. C. A. war fund in West Shore towns have been made, the contributions are large. Committeemen say that the residents of all the towns are liberal and there is little doubt but this district will come forward with its share.

in the social room of the Presbyterian Church and served by the newlyorganized canteen committee of the American Red Cross, $3,600 were pledged by the forty or more persons present. This supper was attended by the executive committee and the captains of the seven teams, with their several lieutenants, as well as some of the leading business and professional men of the town.

The director of the Mount Union district, Cloyd B. Ewing, presided and a report was made by Professor C. C. Smith, telling of the campaign conducted in the High school in which sixty-five boys pledged themselves to earn $10.

The report of the teams were called for in order: "Ceam No. 1, Captain Lawrence N. Crum, $2.049.50;

With the splendid result already achieved it was unanimously determined to raise a total of $12,000. After the supper here, a meeting was held at Mapleton. Meetings will also be held at Orbisonia, Nine Springs, Saltillo, Robertsdale and other towns in the lower end of Huntingdon county.

WM. STROUSE

BOYS' DEPARTMENT

Sturdy as a Sapling

That's the kind of boy you want—that's the kind the lad wants to be. Out in the air-no matter what the weather

Wm. Strouse Trench Overcoats For Boys $7.50, $8.50, $10 have the sturdiness of material and tailoring that will "pull thru" the roughest gale.

"Let'er blow! Let'er freeze up tight" what's the difference to the lad snugly overcoated in one of our Trench Overcoats?

These Overcoats will stand it. They'll go "through the line;" they'll stand rigid exa mination; they'll "show up" with the best of 'em, because they've got that kind of stuff in 'em. Quality, built right into 'em Every stitch is a stout link in their tailoring. Couldn't be otherwise! We're too critical our-selves to let any but a "thoroughbred" get into our stocks.
Every dollar of the money you put into 'em will come out again in the form of SATIS-FACTION.
