

LABOR UNION OFFICIAL SUGGESTS NEW BALLOT

The following letter suggesting a simplified form of ballot has been written to the Harrisburg Telegraph by C. F. Quinn, secretary and treasurer of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor. It is self explanatory and follows:

To the Editor of the Telegraph: Your recent editorial on simplifying the ballot is responsible for this communication. For some time the subject has interested me and consideration has been given to it. My conclusion is that, if ballot-reform be not a pick-wickian amusement of ballot-reformers, a simple ballot is a simple problem. Political action is manifested, in great measure, through party methods. At the primaries, the names of all candidates are presented to the registered voters on the ballots. The candidates on each party-ballot, having the highest number of votes for the respective offices, become the candidates of the respective parties at the succeeding general election. Every voter is thus given an opportunity to vote for his choice of candidates. The names of all candidates, having been submitted to the voters at the primaries (it should be assumed that every intending voter at the general election will vote at the primaries, if not, the state is not to be blamed), and nearly all citizens, having party affiliation, it seems that the names of candidates might very well be omitted from the ballot at the general election. Their republication on the general ballot causes a greater outlay for printing, inconvenience to the voter, more labor in counting, and affords greater probability of error, or fraud. Taking these actualities and contingencies into consideration, why could not the ballot be simplified as hereunder crudely shown:

NEW PLAN TO HELP SOLDIERS

Nurse From Adams County in France Asks Refreshments For Soldiers En Route

Gettysburg, Pa., Nov. 16.—Plans have already been mapped out and contributions started to come in for the citizens of Gettysburg and Adams county to "do their bit" in a distinctive way. A letter was received from one of Adams county's Red Cross nurses who is now at the front, asking for a regular monthly contribution direct from the home folks to enable her to do work that she feels ought to be done. The matter ready the first month's instalment is ready the first month's instalment is speeding over the rails to its destination. The nurse has charge of one of the infirmaries along the railway at which the trains bearing the American boys from the port to the camps and trenches stop. Many, if not most of these men, have not been in a camp, but traveling on the ocean or on the railroad on payday and consequently many of them do not have any money and rations are getting low. When the men are in a camp they are well fed, but it is to help these travelers that the nurse asks for the aid so that she may give to Uncle Sam's tired, hungry boys a cup of coffee and a little something to eat, and the first day's launching of the plan to just a few people promises a ready response on the part of our citizens.

PLAN FOR HOCHU WORK Disposal Discussed at Washington—France Wants Them

Washington, Nov. 16.—The State Department and the British and French Foreign Offices have been discussing ever since the United States entered the war the question of bringing German prisoners of war to this country. It was learned at the State Department today. The question has now become a lively one owing to the necessity of determining the disposition to be made of prisoners taken by the United States troops. France, it was said, desires that they be held in France, as they can be utilized there on the farms and in other employments, where labor is scarce. It was considered probable that, inasmuch as the transportation of prisoners of war in large numbers would interfere with the shipping operations, this Government will decide to let them remain in France.

"In connection with this ballot, there should be, at all the polls, lists of candidates, so that voters have access to them for desired information. Under this system, a vote in the party-square would be a vote for all candidates of the party in which square an X has been marked. To cast a candidate of any party the voter would write, in the blank, under official heading, the name of the candidate of an opposite party for whom he intended to vote. He would also have the privilege of writing in the names of any candidates, or citizens, he pleased, or he might omit the party-square X altogether, and write in the names of all the candidates.

"Let me say, in conclusion, that this proposed ballot would merely transform the present ballot by the omission of the names of the candidates, and still afford an opportunity for individual voting. Its adoption would encourage better representation at the primaries and regular party-voting at the general elections. In non-partisan campaigns, a distinct non-partisan ballot should be used. The foregoing is not, perhaps, fully explicit as I realize your space is limited. It is given only for criticism and to pass as a hurried suggestion to other minds. Very truly yours, C. F. QUINN, Secretary-Treasurer.

This temperance medicine, though sold nearly half a century ago, sells most widely to-day. It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce's. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on wrapper. It is now put up in tablet form. Write confidentially about your case or send 10c for trial pkg. of "Favorite Prescription Tablets" to Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

McKeesport, Pa.—I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription equally as good as it used to be. A few years ago I had a severe nervous break-down. I became very weak and thin and could not sleep, when a neighbor of mine advised me to try "Favorite Prescription" as it had helped her. This I did and three boxes of all nervousness and I was once more in good health—thanks to this good medicine. Women who suffer as I did will find great relief in the "Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. Emma Decker, 418 Penny Ave.

The Opening Chapters of Gov. Pennypacker's Autobiography

deal with the habits and customs of the Pennsylvania of the fifties and sixties. They give amusing anecdotes of the boyhood of men who later became famous. Governor Pennypacker's marvelous memory recreated with photographic clearness the scenes of that almost-forgotten period. Those scenes are peopled with the fathers and grandfathers of the present generation. Many a reader of the autobiography will find in it interesting bits of his own family history.

After Governor Pennypacker's death, a number of his former associates addressed a letter to his family requesting that his autobiography be published EXACTLY AS HE WROTE IT. They feared that a desire to avoid controversy, or to protect the feelings of some one bruised by Governor Pennypacker's plain speaking, would cause the suppression or revision of important chapters of the manuscript.

In agreeing to the exclusive first publication of the autobiography in the Philadelphia
