By his victory O'Dowd brought back the middleweight championship to the Irish race, a feat which has not been performed since Jack Dempsey lost to Bob Fitzsimmons over a score of years ago.

The victory was a fitting climax to the passing of the Frawley law putting an end to legalized boxing in New York State.

THE OUT-OF-DATE

Of all the days that ever were since Moses framed the ancient code, Or vanished years that knew the titer Of Caesar's legions down the road Take all the eons that have flown, From drudge-pit to the laureled brow, Above all ages Time has known, There's no place for the Quitter now.

Start back to where the Cave Man ruled The first gray dawn of rugged life, Where each raw clan in turn was schooled To stand against an endless strife, Through reigns of terror and of gore, Through shattered faith and broken vow, Far less than Time has known before, There's no place for the Quitter now.

ON EBACKFIELD As if there were not enough argument and rebuttal now going on in the realm of things, a query comes in as to what four men should constitute the greatest backfield that ever played.

Out of only two thousand or three thousand entries, this, of course, is an easy choice.

And yet, as each citizen is entitled to his guess, estimate or opinion, we are willing to offer our own, viz: Quarterback—Eckersall, Chicago. Halfbacks—Heston, Michigan; Thorpe, Carlisle. Fullback—Coy, Yale.

AN OLD-TIME AFFAIR

THE REMAINING STYMIE Winter soon drives, in broken flight, The golfer from his summer station; At least can't stop his conversation, But winter, what's'er its blight, At frozen greens he soon may balk; But he can talk—and talk—and talk.

The only all-American team to be applauded this season is the one poised to break through the line or circle an end in France.
