"My little boy started to get sore ears and scalp. He started with a rash and pimples, and the skin was red. It itched and burned so that he could hardly stand it, and when he scratched it irritated very much. The eruption made his hair come out, and he was very cross. He was a terrible sight to look at. "Seeing a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement I got a free sample. I bought more, and we had not used quite one box of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Soap when he was healed." Every thoughtful woman is considering how she can practice conservation this Winter and such an apron as this one is a valuable help. It protects the gown that is worn beneath and at the same time it is pretty and becoming. It can be made of a striped cotton material as it is here or of a checked material or of a plaid gingham or of plain chambray or of butcher's linen with a little fancy stitchery in color around the edges to make a very charming effect. Women who have sufficient leisure may like the last suggestion. For the very busy women who must practice conservation of time as well as conservation in other directions, simple stitched edges are desirable. White stitched with blue or with red is pretty, and blue stitched with white or with buff makes an attractive effect. We, long ago learned that it is worth while to make the simplest, most prosaic gown pretty because whatever is attractive is restful, and we can accomplish more when surroundings are restful than when they irritate the eye and through the eye the nerves. For the medium size will be needed, 4 yards of material 27 inches wide, 3 yards 36.

The pattern No. 9582 is cut in sizes 34 or 36, 38 or 40, 42 or 44 bust. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on respict of the cents. ceipt of ten cents.
