BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX "So long as we love we serve; so long as we are loved by some one, I would almost say that we are indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend."

she ever refused anything you ask of her? As a matter of fact, you never ask anything of Jeannette. You are utterly indifferent to the mere thought of putting yourself under obligations to her.

Let us go back to the quotation of our dear friend, H. L. S.: "So long as we love we serve"; that is mutual, is it not? We give and take service. But if we were to exact it, the service would become tyranny, not service.
