GOVERNOR TELLS OF CAMP LIFE

Chief Executive Says Pennsylvania Always Gives One-Tenth of Nation's Share

It was an inspiration to Governor Brumbaugh to find such a large gathering of the women folks of men in the United States service, ready to greet him yesterday afternoon at the Civic Club when he spoke of his recent trip to the five big Army cantonments where Pennsylvania men are numbered among those in camp. He said that in all national movements, whether for money or service, Pennsylvania's share was always listed at one-tenth of the nation's strength and that the state usually went "over the top."

He spoke of the ardor which the men put into their drilling, of what a disciplined life means to them; of the fine quality and well-cooked food they eat and what a wonderful influence the Y. M. C. A. and hostess houses have on their way of living away from home.

As knitting will be needed as long as the war lasts because the government does not supply warm sweaters, mufflers and other knitted articles with the clothing given out, he urged that the women keep at their work and also teach that graceful art of plying their needles.

The Governor was heartily applauded during the speech and afterwards many of the soldiers' relatives had the pleasure of meeting him personally.

Delightful Music

Weaver on the piano; Miss Sarah Lerner played violin numbers in her own delightful way and "Meditation" by Mietzke for the harp, violin and piano was given by Miss Margaret Vaughn, Miss Lerner and Mrs. Weaver. Tea was served with the accompaniment of Mrs. Kunkel, Miss Cora Lee Snyder, Mrs. Arthur A. Herr, Miss Letitia Brady, a group of the younger girls and several of the Motor Messengers. Most of the women registered for the new war organization after the tea.

Home of Brigham Young's 18th Wife For Red Cross

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 22. — Anella Palace, the home of the favorite wife of Brigham Young, former president of the Mormon Church, has been turned over the Executive Committee of the Red Cross of Utah to be used as headquarters and workrooms of that organization.

It was built in the seventies by Brigham Young for his eighteenth wife, Anella Folsom Young, and contains forty-eight rooms and a large art gallery, but was never occupied by her. The use of the palace was donated for the duration of the war by its owner, Colonel Edwin F. Holmes, of New York.

Sumptuous draperies alone mean nothing at all. How expressive of our tastes and thought, how estimable are the simplest draperies when they are carefully selected - selected to match wall paper and furniture, and to express the impression you wish an interior to convey.

Not only does this shop sell draperies, but it employs skilled artisans to apply them artistically - effectively.
